Nixon gains electoral edge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Richard M. Nixon, completing an epic comeback from political oblivion, narrowly won election Wednesday as the 37th president of the United States.

He immediately pledged full efforts "to bring the American people together."

Squeezing past Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in the critical late-counting states of Illinois and California, Nixon harvested 287 electoral votes—17 more than needed to succeed Lyndon B. Johnson as president and to return the White House to Republican hands after eight years of Democratic rule.

But the Nixon victory was so narrow—he received only 43 per cent of the popular vote—that it failed to generate a big enough Republican resurgence to crack Democratic control of Congress.

Republicans did, however, pick up four House and five Senate seats and five governor's chairs.

As tabulating of the avalanche of nearly 70 million votes neared an end, the popular vote lead teetered between Nixon and Humphrey.

With 93 per cent of the total vote tabulated, the count in mid-afternoon showed: Nixon 29,519,667, Humphrey 28,554,136 including votes from two states of electors in Alabama.

Third-party candidate George C. Wallace received slightly more than 9 million votes—about 13 per cent of the total. The former Alabama governor's emotion-charged campaign threatened for a time to plunge the election into the House, but he carried only five states—all in deep Dixie.

Even as the last votes were being counted, both Johnson and Humphrey promised cooperation and unity in the shift of executive power to Nixon and his running mate, Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland. The change-over will come with their inauguration Jan. 20.

From his Texas ranch, Johnson wired congratulations to Nixon and promised to "do everything in my power to make your burdens lighter."

"I hope that our people will turn now from the divisive contentions of the political campaign to a united search for peace and social justice," Johnson said.

Humphrey also sent a telegram to the president-elect, saying "you have my support in unifying and leading the people."

"I am confident," Humphrey said, "we shall be able to go on with the business of building the better America we all seek—in a spirit of peace and harmony."

Conceding defeat, Humphrey in a quavering voice told several hundred cheering supporters at a Minneapolis hotel: "I've done my best. I've lost. Mr. Nixon has won. The democratic process has worked its will, so let's go on with the urgent task of uniting this country."

Thieu has refused to recognize the front. He has said it can take part in expanded talks only as part of the North Vietnamese delegation, which has been meeting with the United States in Paris since May.

There have been signs that Thieu gambled on Nixon winning, hoping this would insure greater support for his position than he has been getting from Johnson.

Republicans make slight gains

Democrats still control Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats retained firm control of Congress in Tuesday's election, making Richard M. Nixon the first president since the start of the two-party system to take office without his party in charge of Capitol Hill.

Although the Republicans scored a net gain of at least four Senate seats, it was not enough to overcome the Democrats' holdover margin from the 90th Congress.

If Democrat Wayne Morse loses, and he is trailing in a tight Oregon race, the new Senate lineup will be 58 Democrats and 42 Republicans.

In the House, the GOP barely denied the big Democratic majority, picking up a net gain of four seats, which left it on the short end of a 243-192 lineup.

This was in amazing contrast to pre-election claims by the GOP of a gain of 20 to 30—and to private Democratic expectations of a loss of 10 or 12.

Other presidents have found themselves with the enemy party entrenched in Congress during their terms of office, but none has had to start out that way before.

In 1916 Woodrow Wilson failed to bring a Democratic majority into the House with him, but with the help of independent party members the Democrats were able to exercise control.

In the Senate, Republicans won seven seats from the Democrats but the latter cut their losses a bit by taking two seats that had been held by Republicans, although no incumbent was running.

Democrat Alan Cranston won the California seat vacated by Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel's primary loss and Iowa's Democratic governor, Harold E. Hughes, won the seat of retiring Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper.

The Republicans scored their gains in Arizona, Florida, Maryland, Ohio, Oklahoma and Pennsylvania. The GOP victory in Arizona will bring Barry Goldwater back to the Senate in January.

The near stand-off in House races was a disappointment to Republican leaders who had talked confidently of picking up at least 20 seats and possibly even the 31 it would take to put the Republicans in control.

Not since the 83rd Congress, in the first two years of Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration, have the Republicans controlled Congress and they have done it only twice since 1933.

One possible explanation for the low turnover rate in the House is the likelihood that Democratic soft spots were all but eliminated in the GOP sweep two years ago when the Democrats lost 47 seats. They may be near their rockbottom low now, which can hardly be comforting to the Republicans.

The Republicans were able to take only nine seats from the Democrats in Tuesday's voting. Redistricting in Indiana, North Carolina and New Mexico helped account for four of them. Two others were normally Republican seats in upstate New York returning to the fold, and another was in Connecticut

European jaunt considered

Nixon trip would help change foreign policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon is considering a trip to Europe before he takes over the White House Jan. 20 to gather information for a sweeping reappraisal of U. S. foreign policy which he promised during his campaign.

He would like eventually to visit the Soviet Union and start negotiations with Soviet leaders on reducing the risks of nuclear war.

Nixon also has made himself available to President Johnson for a flying visit to either Paris or Saigon if Johnson believes that he can help untangle the snarled Paris peace talks by prodding South Vietnam to abandon its boycott and participate.

Nixon's own policy on Vietnam, as outlined in campaign declarations, is to reduce U.S. involvement in the war as rapidly as possible. He would do this either by negotiating peace or by "de-Americanization"—progressively shifting the fight to South Vietnamese forces.

He evidently intends to shift the main focus of U.S. foreign policy from the Far East back to Europe, tackle the Middle East war threat on virtually a crash basis, reduce foreign aid to some countries and increase it for others, and shake up the State Department.

"We have got to reduce our commitments around the world in those areas where we are over-extended," Nixon told The Associated Press in a recent interview, "so that we can put more emphasis on the priority areas."

He said the danger of world war is greater in the Middle East than in Vietnam. He has rated the peril of U.S.-Soviet confrontation there as second only to that of Berlin. He sees the problem as one to be dealt with in large with Moscow.

In the closing weeks of the campaign Nixon charged that U.S. military power had been allowed to decline in relation to Soviet power. Democrats denied the charge. Nixon said that if elected he would remedy this situation and he frequently asserted that negotiations with the Soviets could succeed only if conducted from a position of strength.

Victorious Nixon sets sights on creating national unity

Taking Florida vacation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon marked his day of election triumph Wednesday with a pilgrimage to the bedside of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower — the man he served as vice president for eight years.

The president-elect came to the capital en route to Florida after telling a New York news conference that he will seek peace actively even before taking office. And he said he will make national unity his first objective after his inauguration in January.

The Republican president-elect beamed and waved to a crowd of about 200 that stood in a fine misting rain waiting his arrival at Walter Reed Army Hospital, before he entered the VIP ward where Eisenhower has been a patient since May 14.

Entering the hospital with Nixon were his wife Pat, daughter Tricia and Julie and Julie's fiancée, young David Eisenhower, the former president's grandson.

In his initial post-victory appearance in New York a tired but happy Nixon had kind words for everybody: President Johnson, Humphrey, Republicans, Democrats, supporters and critics.

Wallace calls role successful

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George C. Wallace, whose attempted blockade of the Electoral College proved as ineffective as his memorable "stand at the schoolhouse door," said Wednesday he nonetheless considered his presidential candidacy a success.

Wallace carried five states of the old Confederacy for a total electoral vote of 45. His total popular vote, with 93 per cent of precincts reporting, was 9,174,925.

"We turned the other two parties in different directions," Wallace said.

Wallace said he had no political plans for the future, either on a state or national level.

Fighting off tears, Humphrey promises help to opponent

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Hubert Horatio Humphrey fought back the tears of defeat Wednesday and promised President-elect Richard M. Nixon his support in unifying and leading the nation.

The 57-year-old druggist from Huron, S.D., who surged from behind to come within a whisper of the White House, then went home to Lake Waverly to rest and mow the lawn.

The strain of the grueling campaign, and the ultimate defeat was finally beginning to show on the Vice President's face as he graciously conceded defeat at noon EDT before television cameras and hundreds of shouting loyalists.

Rising at 8:15 a.m. Minnesota time, Humphrey ate his breakfast and awaited the grim news that most of his supporters had seemed ready for when he went to bed hours after midnight.

It came. The news services and television networks gave Nixon Illinois and the presidency. For the second time, and presumably the last, in eight years Humphrey had been turned back in his effort to crown a long public career with the nation's highest prize.

The victories—minus two gubernatorial losses to Democrats—put a total of 31 governors' chairs in Republican hands to 19 for Democrats.

But the Republicans' presidential victory will almost certainly return one governorship to the Democrats. In gaining Spiro T. Agnew as vice president on Nixon's ticket, the GOP lost him as governor of Maryland and the Democratic-controlled state legislature will choose his successor. Maryland has no lieutenant governor.

Republicans took governorships from Democratic control in six states carried by Nixon—Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Republicans now control 31 state houses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans seized seven governorships from Democrats to capture their biggest majority of the nation's state houses in 15 years, mostly in states where GOP President-elect Richard M. Nixon won big.

The victories—minus two gubernatorial losses to Democrats—put a total of 31 governors' chairs in Republican hands to 19 for Democrats.

Record editorial

Guard against loss of vote

Hubert H. Humphrey's troubles began and ended in Illinois, a fate not usually reserved for a native midwesterner.

However, except for the fact that Illinois cast its lot with president-elect Richard M. Nixon, the entire nation may have been in the middle of its biggest political mess in history.

Had Illinois teetered the other way and its 26 electoral votes found their way into the Humphrey camp, the selection of the 37th president of the United States would have been dropped in the lap of the House of Representatives.

Each state at that time would have been given one vote and a delay of possibly two months in naming a president would have ensued. There is also the possibility that another tie would have resulted, due to the fact that 50 votes would have been up for grabs.

The tremendous race between Humphrey and Nixon excited everyone who ever cast a vote. But, the possibility that the election of a president nearly was taken from the hands of the public is frightening.

It is more apparent than ever today that the Electoral College manner in which presidents are elected in the United States needs a drastic overhauling. Either the entire system needs a change, or at least a reassignment of electoral votes.

Congratulations for a race well won are certainly in order for Richard M. Nixon today. Hubert H. Humphrey is to be warmly applauded for a race well run.

August's disturbances at the Democratic National Convention may have marked the beginning of Humphrey's troubles in Chicago. Tuesday's vote, which became final on Wednesday, marked the actual end for the Democratic standard bearer in the same state of Illinois.

Regardless of whether we were winners or losers in this presidential election, let's not ever let the value of the vote be taken from the people.

Gallup Poll finishes right on bull's eye

NEW YORK (AP) — The Gallup poll, of the two most widely published national public opinion polls, came closest to calling the 1968 presidential election on the basis of today's unofficial returns.

Both Gallup and the Harris poll correctly forecast that the outcome would be very close.

Gallup, after allocating undecided votes, gave Richard M. Nixon 43 per cent of the vote, Hubert H. Humphrey 42 and George C. Wallace 15.

Harris gave Humphrey 43 per cent, Nixon 40, Wallace 13 and left 4 per cent undecided.

With 92 per cent of the vote counted, both Nixon and Humphrey stood at 43 per cent. Wallace had 14 per cent.

George H. Gallup Jr. said the final poll may turn out to be the most accurate in the institute's 33-year history.

Schweiker wins by 250,000

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Richard S. Schweiker bucked the Democratic tide in Pennsylvania to win election as U.S. Senator, giving Pennsylvania two Republicans in the upper chamber.

Schweiker, 42, was the only statewide Republican winner Tuesday as he ousted two-term Sen. Joseph S. Clark, 67, by more than 250,000 votes.

Schweiker will join fellow Republican Hugh Scott in the Senate.

Schweiker won 59 of the state's 67 counties to oust Clark, a self-professed maverick who often irritated his own party regulars as much as he ruffled Republican feathers.

Schweiker won all but Beaver, Greene, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Northampton, Philadelphia, Washington and Westmoreland counties.

Allegheny County, normally a Democratic stronghold, went for Schweiker, a four-term Congressman, 328,310 to 322,019.

Clark ran behind Democratic presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey in Philadelphia. Humphrey grabbed a 267,000-vote bulge in the state's largest city, while Clark led Schweiker by 191,000 there. Still that was better than Clark's highest previous Philadelphia margin — 188,000.

With 9,177 of the state's 9,492 precincts reported in unofficial returns, Schweiker had 2,244,427 to Clark's 1,992,868.

In a concession statement Wednesday, Clark said, "Congressman Richard S. Schweiker has waged a good, hard, clean campaign, and I wish him well. I think he'll make a good senator."

Then Clark added the kind of clincher that often infuriated the voters. "I think I might have made a better one."

Despite indications early in the campaign that Clark might win re-election, Schweiker remained quietly confident. "Reason told me that I would win," he said, "but you still get stage fright as you get down to the wire."

Clark aides blamed his loss on his strong stand for gun registration laws and resentment among voters of Italian descent because of his feud with the late state Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno. They also cited his feud with Philadelphia Democratic party leaders and his divorce from his wife of 31 years and marriage to his third wife last year.

Vets bonus passed by landslide

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pennsylvanians remembered their GI sons fighting in Vietnam, approving a $28 million veterans' bonus bill Tuesday that can mean up to $750 for individual servicemen.

Although neither party conducted any campaign in behalf of the bill, Pennsylvania voters gave it overwhelming approval.

With 9,492 of the state's 9,492 precincts reported in unofficial returns, those approving the bill totaled 1,903,582 and those opposed 622,591.

Pennsylvanians approved bonus payments to veterans of World Wars I and II and Korea. But this was the first time the voters were asked to approve them while the combat was still going on. But as its chief sponsor, state Sen. Clarence D. Bell, R-Delaware, said, "In the first place this war may never be over."

"And this is the first war where servicemen are being separated from the armed forces while the war is going on. They need money now to re-establish themselves in schools and business."

The bill will provide each Pennsylvania veteran of Vietnam service with $25 for each month served overseas. Maximum payment is $750. Families of GIs killed in Vietnam will be granted $1,000 in one sum.

The earlier bonus bill provided funds to men in the service during the conflicts, whether they saw action or not.

Bell said the $28 million will cover only the 1968-69 year. Earlier bonuses were $500 million for World War I vets and $150 for Korean veterans.

White House victory sets state precedent

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Democrats swept most of Pennsylvania Tuesday as Republicans won the White House for the first time in party history without winning the Keystone State.

Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey, piling up big margins in the industrial cities, won the state's 29 electoral votes in a futile bid to head off Republican Richard M. Nixon.

The 29 votes make up the third largest bloc in the electoral college.

Humphrey won almost a 233,000-vote edge out of a total vote of more than 4,400,000 in the state, according to nearly complete unofficial returns.

Only one Republican won a statewide election, Richard S. Schweiker, 42, a four-term Congressman from suburban Montgomery County near Philadelphia, ousted Sen. Joseph S. Clark, 67, who was seeking his third term.

Democrats also won the state post of auditor general, state treasurer and a superior court seat. They regained a 14-13 edge in the congressional delegation, and won control of the state House of Representatives. Republicans retained control of the state Senate.

Voters also approved a $28 million bonus plan for Vietnam war veterans. The bonus plan provides up to $750 for each Vietnam veteran or $1,000 for the family of GIs killed in action.

Pennsylvania was a major battleground for the presidential candidates. Each made several forays through its industrial regions, its hard and soft coal areas and its farm lands.

Humphrey piled up better than a 267,000-vote edge in Philadelphia and about a 32,500-vote margin in Allegheny County, which includes Pittsburgh.

Casey runs ahead of ticket

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Robert P. Casey, the Pennsylvania Democrat best remembered as the man Milton Shapp defeated in the 1966 gubernatorial primary, showed Pennsylvania voters he knows how to win, as well as lose.

While two-time U.S. Sen. Joseph S. Clark slipped to defeat Tuesday at the hands of Republican Richard S. Schweiker, the prematurely-graying Lackawanna County man was leading the rest of the Democratic ticket to victory in capturing the auditor general's post.

The 36-year-old former state senator polled nearly 450,000 votes more than his Republican rival, Warner M. Depuy, now a member of Gov. Shafer's cabinet as revenue secretary.

Casey's advantage was three times that of Hubert H. Humphrey, who surprised pollsters and professional politicians alike by rolling to a relatively easy victory in the Commonwealth.

Breezing into office with roughly half Casey's plurality were Mrs. Grace M. Sloan for state treasurer, a job she held four years ago, and Allegheny County Judge William E. Cicone for state superior court.

Even Casey admitted he was surprised by the size of his victory over the soft-spoken Milford banker and seed-firm owner. But Casey, whose most recent elective office was to the state Constitutional Convention where he served as first vice president, made no attempt to analyze his vote or comment on the new rising of his political star.

Casey inherits the auditor general job from Mrs. Sloan. She sought and won it in 1964 because she could not succeed herself as state treasurer.

Traditionally, the fiscal posts go to candidates of the same party as the man who wins the presidential race in Pennsylvania.

But generally, the bottom of the ticket expects to lose from 10 to 20 per cent of the top of the ticket's vote due to "slip-page."

Casey reversed the usual trend by picking up between 10 and 15 per cent more votes than Humphrey.

The unofficial vote, with 9,492 of 9,492 precincts—or about 99 per cent—counted was:

Auditor General:

Casey 2,359,553, Depuy 1,916,687.

Treasurer: Sloan 2,218,045, Pasquerella 2,039,365.

Superior Court: Cicone 2,225,425, Hannum 2,060,263.

Depuy summarized the GOP state's fate with this observation Wednesday:

"Once again, we move with a loser (Nixon). When the head of a ticket loses, we lose."

Two parties rule legislature

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The voters of Pennsylvania have given Gov. Shafer a state Senate controlled by his Republican party and a House where opposition Democrats will rule the roost in the 1969-70 legislative session.

Complete, but unofficial, election returns from across the Commonwealth indicated Wednesday Democrats will occupy at least 108 of the 203 seats in the House during the final half of the Shafer administration.

Democrats took a Senate seat away from a Republican incumbent, but the victory merely scaled down the GOP majority in the upper chamber to 27-23. The Democrats have not held an absolute majority in the Senate in 30 years.

By capturing the House, Democrats will be able to bargain with the administration from a position of strength, trading votes for Shafer legislation in exchange for support from the governor's office for pet Democratic bills.

John S. Fine, a Republican who served as governor from 1951-55, was the state's last chief executive to have his party in firm control of the legislature throughout his administration.

House Democratic Leader Herbert Fineman, who easily won re-election in his Philadelphia district, pledged bipartisan cooperation with Shafer on legislation "that truly benefits the people of Pennsylvania."

Democrats showed a net gain of nine seats in the House, ousting 10 Republican incumbents along the way. Three GOP representatives from Philadelphia went down to defeat, leaving the city with five Republican and 29 Democratic House members with one race undecided.

Three Democratic incumbents failed in bids for re-election — two from York County and one from Philadelphia.

In the Senate, the 25 contested races went pretty much according to form. Democrat W. Louis Coppersmith of Johnstown pulled off a minor upset, defeating Sen. Richard J. Green Jr., R-Cambria.

In addition to Coppersmith, three other new senators were elected in districts where incumbents did not seek re-election. The freshmen are Robert R. Gerhart Jr., D-Berks; Richard A. Tilghman, D-Montgomery, and Edward P. Zemprelli, D-Allegheny.

Route 209 in Pike County cut down to two lanes

By BERT WALTER
Pocono Record Reporter
MILFORD — The State Highway Department revealed Wednesday it has scuttled plans to relocate Route 209 as a four-lane limited access highway from Echo Lake to Milford due to lack of funds.

Highway Department officials said plans will proceed to relocate the 23-mile section of highway as a two-lane route.

Cost to reconstruct the road with two lanes is about $20 million.

Cost to reconstruct the road with four lanes is about $46 million.

Relocation of the Route 209 span between Echo Lake and Milford is necessitated due to construction of the Tocks Island Dam and creation of the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area.

Route indicated

Numerous portions of Route 209, specifically at Bushkill towards Dingman's Ferry, will be inundated by the waters of the Tocks Island Reservoir, once it is created.

George Parrs, assistant highway department district engineer, Scranton, said Wednesday the decision was made during a Highway Commission meeting recently.

Robert Hetherington, Highway Department Public Information director, said necessary land will be acquired to permit future expansion into four lanes.

"It's a matter of economics," Hetherington said, on cutting the proposed highway down to two lanes.

"We must get the most out of our dollar and at the same time provide a facility. In this case, specifically, we don't feel we can get the most out of our dollar building the road four lanes because we don't have that many dollars.

Better then nothing

Hetherington said "to build something is better than not building anything at all," is the Highway Department's philosophy on the project.

Decision to construct the relocated highway as two lanes reverts back to the original decision by the department.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers which is required to relocate the route, had surveyed three relocation sites for the highway. Two of these were recommended. Both the Corps and Highway Department had approved one relocation area.

Hetherington said that the two-lane highway will probably still be constructed on this relocated area located approximately two miles north of the present Route 209.

The new highway location was explained last May during a public meeting in Delaware Township. There were some objections at the meeting and highway officials since then have been studying two location changes. One is in Lehman Township and the other in Delaware Township.

Hetherington said that there are 2,176 highway projects programmed in 1967 for which there are no funds. Route 209 is one of them.

Hetherington emphasized that right-of-way will be acquired for four lanes, but only two lanes will be constructed.

Frank Dressler, executive director of the Tocks Island Regional Advisory Council, said Wednesday the road must be constructed with four lanes. "There just isn't any alternative."

"No matter what the highway department will say, they'll find the money to make it four lanes," Dressler added. He said that TIRAC may be able to assist in obtaining additional funds. This means that TIRAC may be able to obtain some federal monies for the highway.

The decision to reconstruct the road as two lanes means that the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has to pay for the reconstruction since the Corps is required to replace anything it takes for the two federal projects.

Parrs said a meeting is being arranged with the Corps of Engineers. Philadelphia District, to discuss the change in plans.

The Highway Department sent a letter to the Corps of Engineers this week notifying them of the change.

GOP takes all offices in Pike Co.

MILFORD — The 5,523 voters in Pike County who went to the polls Tuesday, in what turned out to be a history making turnout, cast the majority of their ballots for all Republican candidates.

Only one district throughout the county carried a Democratic majority for one of the state offices in the historic Republican Pike County.

In Lehman Township, Grace M. Sloan, Democratic candidate for Auditor General, defeated her Republican opponent Frank J. Pasquerella 180 to 152.

There are a total 6,998 registered voters in the county. A total 81 per cent of the voters went to the polls. Absentee ballots total 372. There were 371 but an emergency ballot came in later. These ballots will be tallied November 15.

The Militant Workers Party presidential candidate received 11 votes in Pike County. The Socialist Labor presidential candidates received 14, eight of which were cast in Blooming Grove Township. Dick Gregory received six votes in his Peace and Freedom Party.

McDade reelected in district

MILFORD — Joseph M. McDade, incumbent Republican U.S. Representative from the 10th District, defeated his Democratic opponent Robert J. Landy by 119,187 to 58,329 according to unofficial totals from the eight county district.

McDade defeated Landy in his native Sayre and also carried Bradford County 14,475 to Landy's 5,261.

Following are the unofficial county totals:

Wyoming, McDade 5,933 and Landy 1,473; Wayne, McDade 8,439 and Landy 2,190; Tioga, McDade 9,711 and Landy 3,218; Susquehanna, McDade 9,680 and Landy 2,978; Sullivan, McDade 1,710 and Landy 893; Lackawanna, McDade 65,428 and Landy 40,970; Bradford, McDade 14,475 and Landy 5,261; Pike, McDade 3,805 and Landy 1,346.

Portland choses one Democrat

PORTLAND — The majority of the 232 persons who cast their votes in Portland Tuesday helped re-elect Democratic incumbent U.S. Representative Fred B. Rooney.

Rooney received 123 over Republican Paul Henderson's 104.

The Portland electorate stood solidly behind the Republican candidates, except in the Congressional race.

Public meeting

BANGOR — A public meeting will be held in the Bangor Cultural Center December 10 by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to explain flood control plans for Martins Creek.

Democratic incumbent Philip Ruggiero, although he was re-elected for another seat in the general assembly from the 137th District, received 101 votes compared to the 116 cast for Republican R. Kline Ashton.

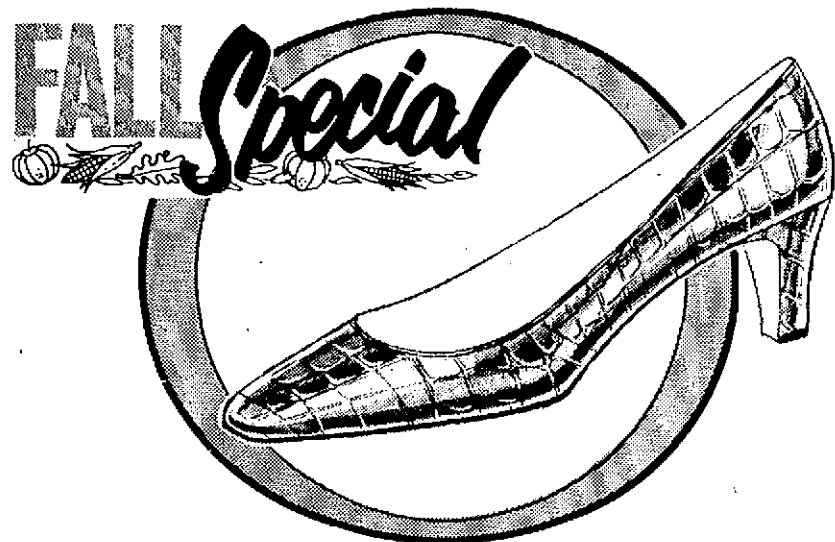

Nixon polled 138, Humphrey, 91 and Wallace, 3. Schweiker polled 134; Clark, 82. For auditor general, Deputo polled 125 and Casey, 104. For state treasurer, Pasquerella, 122 and Sloan, 103.

Planning major issue

Planning and zoning have been major topics of conversation in recent weeks, due mainly to a move by the Monroe County Planning Commission to name Douglas Williams as the new planning director, despite a lack of credentials and a conflict of interests.

However, there have been several instances in recent days that have only served to emphasize the importance of planning and the desire to guarantee orderly growth. These instances only too clearly drive home the point that proper planning and proper growth are virtually impossible as long as conflicts in interest exist.

Delaware Water Gap is currently in the midst of a campaign to make changes in its subdivision ordinance. The task has proven quite difficult and it is obvious that only a sound understanding of the problems involved and cooperation between all interested parties can make the project successful.

Chestnuthill Township, another of the local municipalities highly interested in planning for the future, is also having trouble in plotting a planning course for the future.

Chestnuthill Township recently turned down the "Blueberry Heights" plot plan, even though it has been approved by the Monroe County Planning Commission.

The Chestnuthill supervisors ruled that the subdivision's individual lots were too small for that area—and possibly they are right.

However, whether one side is right and the other wrong isn't the major issue right now. The important item is that we must all realize how extremely important planning and zoning are in this modern day and age.

We urge all interested parties to attend the open meeting in the courthouse at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, at which time the proposed naming of a planning director will be explained to the public by the planning commission and the Monroe County Commissioners.

The man who assumes the post must be qualified and he must have no connections that would in any way place high calibre planning and zoning in jeopardy.

Aid to producers

Better prices and improved lunches will be the result of recent action by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The USDA purchase of surplus turkey, mostly out of cold storage stocks, has added approximately $50 million to the turkey industry's income for the current year.

More than 20 million children attending schools having non-profit lunch programs will be enjoying several turkey lunches in the near future.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service spent some $15 million in August and September to purchase nearly 45 million pounds of turkey, with the dual purpose in mind of boosting prices to producers and providing high-protein food for schools.

Prices for turkey producers this year were threatened by heavy stocks in cold storage, even though production had been reduced by 16 per cent in accordance with USDA recommendations.

As of July 1, cold storage holdings of frozen turkeys were twice the normal amount for that date. This stock is made up largely of 1987 birds and comprised the bulk of the USDA purchase. The USDA also bought some 1988 crop turkeys to further strengthen the market.

When the purchase program was launched in August, turkey prices on the New York wholesale market were 31 and one-half cents a pound. When the purchase program ended, the price had climbed to 34 cents a pound.

Three-quarters of the turkey crop in the United States is marketed from August through December. By buying early, USDA has already strengthened the market for turkeys and added to producers' income.

Oh, boy! Those turkey lunches sound great.

Paradoxes abound

JERUSALEM — The premier of Israel usually opens the Knesset with a kind of State of the Union address. This year's fourth session of the Sixth Knesset will have been under way for a fortnight before Premier Eshkol gives the traditional speech. Eshkol has been indisposed.

This Knesset will be meeting while a slow start is being made toward talks for peace between Israel and her Arab neighbors. Paradoxes abound. Jordan, which appears most willing to talk peace, seems to be unwilling — or unable — to control the Fatah guerrillas operating against Israel from Jordanian territory. Syria, which is doing least militarily, talks loudest.

Even the Israelis are split. Foreign Minister Abba Eban said in an Israeli state broadcast: "The time has come for Israel to reconsider its policy in the light of new developments." Defense Minister Moshe Dayan on the same day told the United Jewish Appeal study mission in Tel Aviv: "As far as the army is concerned, the first thing that we have to do now is to hold the line — the Suez Canal line, the Jordan line, the Golan line — and to hold it with strength."

Firm stand

On the basis of interviews here and in Tel Aviv, the broad outline of the Israeli approach can be stated authoritatively. Israel will not settle for an extended armistice, a United Nations-policed truce or state of non-war, nor an equilibrium guaranteed by the great powers. Deputy Premier Yigal Allon told the Knesset that no agreement could or would be signed except after direct negotiations. This means a contractual agreement signed by both parties, with full recognition of Israel by the Arabs as an independent national state.

"But there is nothing wrong," said Allon, "in preparing the conditions for negotiations — which is accepted diplomatic practice." That means preliminaries through the good offices of the United Nations. Allon told the Knesset that he had "solid grounds" in reporting that the United States would support Israel if the Soviet Union intervened militarily in any Middle East conflict.

Non-negotiable points

Further guidelines laid down in Israeli circles include several non-negotiable points. For one, Israel will not even consider a limitation, either of number or proportion, on her immigration. Such a proposition poses an unthinkable impediment to Israeli sovereignty.

Israel will not negotiate over administrative or political control of Jerusalem. That means no coalition government, no partition. Arabs could participate in administration; Arab police already patrol some streets in Jerusalem. But the limit is participation. Some arrangement — probably a form of extraterritoriality — can and probably must be worked out for Jerusalem's holy places.

Israel will insist on free access to the Suez Canal and freedom of movement in the Strait of Tiran. The general feeling is that the peace talks will be long and drawn out. When an impasse is reached on one point, the negotiators — in the Israeli view — should move on to another. The alternative to peace is what is ominously referred to in Israel — even in the press — as the "fourth round" of hostilities. Gen. Dayan puts it grimly: "We have to prepare just in case the Arabs start another all-out war."

Uncertain future

NEW YORK — Not too many of us listened to the rest of President Johnson's speech after he dropped the other shoe by announcing a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam. En toto, it was a masterpiece of "buts," larded with "maybes" and laced with "however's."

All we listened to, rapidly, was that the bombing and cannonading would stop. That had become in many minds the chief — indeed, the only — provision the enemy has demanded before he will cease and desist. Alas, not so.

It is infinitely more complicated than that, as the president-elect will soon learn if he does not already know. As the weeks, months and probably years roll on there is a good chance that the new president will be blamed for not getting everything cleaned up. His opponent when he runs for reelection in 1972 may make it a campaign issue.

Two creatures

One of man's insupportable idiocies is that he — the only creature other than the ant who has learned to make organized war — has never mastered how to end his wars. Unlike the ant, (who doesn't have much of one in the first place,) man frets over "face." He wants peace only if it is "with honor," but he has never agreed on where honor ends and dishonor cuts in its rocket. "Face" created 10,000 death masks during the course of the two years of angry peace talks at Panmunjom.

President Johnson spent more time listing the debts than the assets of his move.

To wit, "I think I should caution you, my fellow Americans, that arrangements of this kind are never foolproof. For that matter, even formal treaties are never foolproof, as we have learned from our experience."

...It should be clear to all of us that the new phase of negotiations which opens November 6 does not, repeat, does not mean that a stable peace has yet come to Southeast Asia.

...There may very well be hard fighting ahead.

...What is required of us is a courage and a steadfastness, and a perseverance here at home, that will match that of our men who fight for us tonight in Vietnam.

"I do not know who will be inaugurated as the 37th president of the United States next January. But I do know that I shall do all that I can in the next few months to try to lighten his burdens — as the contributions of the presidents who preceded me have greatly lightened mine. I shall do everything in my power to move us toward the peace that the new president...so deeply and urgently desires."

Picture at present

So the only boys who will be "out of the trenches by Christmas" will be those who were scheduled to come home anyway.

At best, a Korean type truce is in the making. The day of clear-cut military solutions is dead. "Unconditional surrender" died at its peak, on the deck of the USS Missouri in Tokyo Bay. At Panmunjom we accepted a new philosophy about war and how to end it: like Notre Dame against Michigan State a couple of years ago, we took a draw. We agreed, however uneasily, that it's better to negotiate endlessly than annihilate ceaselessly. These are the rules the new president's team will play under at Paris.

As in the prize ring, a draw carries with it the prospect of a return match. The underdog in the original fight comes to regard the draw as a recognition of special and unexpected skills and courage. One has only to visit Panmunjom today to witness the proud cockiness of the younger brothers and sons of North Koreans who held their own at the conference table on the 38th parallel 15 years ago. Our inability or reluctance to liberate the Pueblo and its crew is also symptomatic.

We've had 50,000 men in South Korea for a long time. President Park has said he wants insurance of the U.S. uniform in his country until at least 1975. We have been in Germany and other NATO countries for nearly a quarter of a century. We'll be showing the colors in South Vietnam until the year 2000, sure as God made little apples and apple-cheeked young men.

The Scott Report

Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — A major debate is shaping up in the United Nations over whether television broadcasting directly from satellites to home receivers should be internationally controlled.

Several Nations, including the United States, are privately pressing for the U.N. General Assembly to air the problem thoroughly to determine the world wide economic and political impact of these broadcasts.

A full-scale inquiry by a group of international experts has been recommended by the United Nations Committee on Outer Space, of which the U.S. is a member.

In their little-noticed report to the General Assembly, the committee expressed fear of its misuse as a powerful economic and political weapon unless regulated by the international body.

New urgency

According to the committee's recommendation, the need for the U.N. inquiry has taken on new urgency because of recent breakthroughs in the developments of Communication Satellites.

Russia and the U.S. aerospace engineers working separately to develop direct broadcast systems first have recently indicated that such systems will be feasible from both the technical and cost standpoints in anywhere from two to five years.

The existing satellite system, managed by the Communications Satellite Corporation on behalf of a 62-nation international consortium, relays television signals from one country to large, expensive earth stations owned by other countries.

The earth stations then redistribute television programs to local broadcasting stations. In most nations if that country's government does not want to carry a broadcast, it cuts it off at the earth station.

Propaganda opening

U.S. communication-space experts warn that direct broadcasts from satellites will permit one nation to send its programs over the head of other governments directly to the people.

For example, if the U.S. had a direct satellite broadcasting system operating, the president could address the people of the Soviet Union on foreign policy questions whether the Kremlin

Oscar for Graham

Professional football has grown up into the most sophisticated sport in the world. The true aficionado is a sitting quarterback who makes every play from the grandstand, soaring in shrieks of victory when his team executes a play for a first down, dying in disgust and despair when they miss.

The closest thing to professional football, for the fan, is the bullfight, where the citizen executes every veronica from his seat of safety behind the barrera, and who can detect cowardice in one foot slightly withdrawn from the path of the vicious rushing horns of the bull. It also simulates the games devised by the Caesars in the Colosseum, where gladiators were pitted against each other in mortal combat.

In pro football, the players do not kill each other; they try. Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian, was one of the early birds to play for money. It is doubtful that, today, he could make the taxi squad on some of the teams. It is muscle chess. Every man has an assignment, and the quarterback has become a scientist whose function is to outwit and outgame the adversary.

A fan can get into a lot of trouble selecting an all-time great quarterback in pro football. I've seen them all, and unless you have watched Otto Graham of the old Cleveland Browns you are stuck with brittle heroes like Joe Namath and Johnny Unitas. Paul Brown, coach of the Browns, put it simply: "The test of the quarterback is where his team finishes. In each of Otto's 10 seasons in the All-American Conference and the National Football League, his team played in the title game and won it seven times."

Initial campaign

In his first season, I saw Otto Graham play in Cleveland and New York. He completed 55 of 174 passes that year — 17 for touchdowns — and had five interceptions. An additional factor in Graham's success story was that he was the kind of leader the players wanted to put out for. Mike Scarry, the Cleveland center, said: "We don't always give him the protection he needs, but all he ever says is, 'I could use a little more time back here, fellas.'"

In their first four seasons, Graham's Browns won 52 games, lost four, and tied two. When, on Dec. 9, 1949, the All-America Conference merged with the National Football League, the

These are your questions

What is meant by the Rubin Test for a blocked fallopian tube?

Mrs. G. L., New Jersey

Dear Mrs. L.: The fallopian tubes are the ones through which the female egg passes from the ovary into the uterus. It is here that the egg is fertilized by the male sperm to begin the cycle of pregnancy. These fallopian tubes can be narrowed, scarred, and even closed by infection, outside pressure, by a fibroid tumor of the womb and by birth malformations and kinking of the tube. To cure the condition the exact cause must first be determined.

A brilliant test was devised by Dr. I. C. Rubin of the Mount Sinai Hospital in New York City. Carbon dioxide gas is gently and painlessly pumped through the cervix or the neck of the womb and testing is begun to see if this gas passes freely through the fallopian tubes and approved or not.

On the other hand, if the Russians develop the system first, the Kremlin could use it to beam their propaganda broadcasts directly into American homes.

This use of international direct broadcast television for political and cold war purposes is one of the reasons why the State Department is pushing for the U.N. debate.

U.N. sources say that France's President Charles DeGaulle, who has been working closely with the Russians in the development of communication satellites, favors outlawing the direct broadcasts.

His opposition, they report, is more economic than political. DeGaulle is concerned that American advertising, for example, could cut into the market for home-produced goods crucial to the French economy, such as wine, cheese, and automobiles.

Educational value

Direct broadcasting under strict international control is favored by Secretary-General U Thant and his chief U.N. communication advisers.

These U.N. experts believe it would be of particular value in countries where there was a large population dispersed over a wide area in small villages as in most countries of Asia and Africa.

One program, being considered by these experts, calls for the development of a system under the U.N. whereby a satellite would broadcast educational programs directly to "community" television sets that would serve groups in villages, much as a set in a bar served its customers in the early days of U.S. television.

Scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration plan soon to let the first contracts to build two application technology satellites to be used in experiments involving direct TV broadcasting.

The NASA scientists claim that if the new Administration fully supports the project and Congress provides sufficient funds that the U.S. could easily develop the system first. Their estimate is that a system of direct television broadcasting from satellites into one's home could be operational by 1970.

NFL coaches sniffed and said: "What good is Otto Graham? His coach calls all his shots. He'll be lucky to win one game a season."

That first game, in 1950, was against the Philadelphia Eagles, 1949 champs. Otto short-passed them to death. He called for down-and-out plays of eight to 15 yards and completed 21 out of 38 for 346 yards. Final score: Browns 35; Eagles 10.

Graham was a modest guy. No one ever heard him brag about his bruises, or his part in tossing touchdown passes. He beat the New York Giants in a playoff, faced the Los Angeles Rams, winners of the National Conference, and won 30-28 in that first season. The two ends, Speedie and Lavelli, claimed that Otto could sit tight in a defensive pocket, spot an end who had cut behind his covering man, and anticipate the chances of firing a bullet while weighing the odds against the defensive man getting back into the play.

The one thorn under Graham's throwing hand was that Coach Paul Brown developed a messenger boy service for relaying plays to his quarterback. George Sullivan, who wrote Pro Football's All Time Greats, claimed it amounted to 95 per cent of the calls, but this seems high. Once, when the Browns were on the Eagles' three-yard line, Paul Brown sent word to call a dive through left tackle by a halfback.

Graham waved the messenger away. He called the play the coach asked for, but faked and kept. He ran around right end for a touchdown. As he murmured later: "You can't afford to be wrong." He was not a colorful man, but, in a 10-year span, he tossed 2,626 passes for 1,464 completions and gains of 23,554 yards — or 13 miles. The passes alone were good for 174 touchdowns, which comes to 17.4 per season.

The great part of pro football is that arguments can be put forth for the superlative qualities of Sammy Baugh, Don Hutson, Crazylegs Hirsch and Cliff Battles.

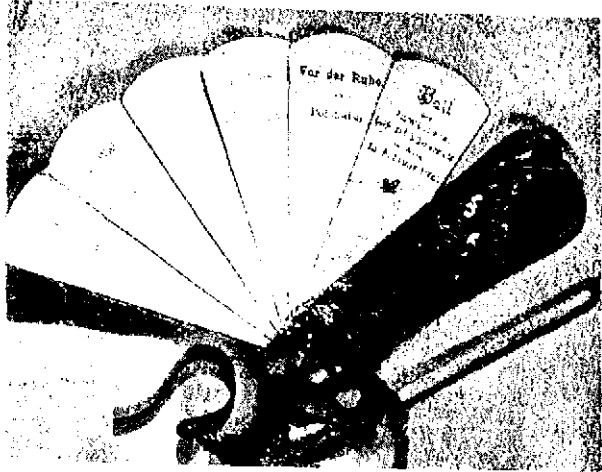

No team in the record books approaches the terrifying record of the Cleveland Browns in the 1946-1955 span. Watching automatic Otto call them was like watching Juan Belmonte at a corrida, or Bobby Jones curl a long putt to a cup with his beloved putter, Calamity Jane.

When I said the procedure was painless, I disregarded the discomfort sometimes felt for a very short while in the lower back and the shoulders. This is not sufficient however to dissuade one from the test. There are now many safe and valuable variations of the test. Another study is known as the hysteroogram. In this a dye is inserted into the cervix and later followed by X-rays for aid in the diagnosis of pelvic problems.

Advertising — the act of making known by public notice and by extension, the art of offering merchandise and services for sale in such a manner as to induce purchase, so says the encyclopedia.

Advertisements were known in the civilizations of antiquity, particularly those of Greece and Rome. Even in Julius Caesar's time a bulletin was published with advertising matter in it. In medieval times shopkeepers hired public criers to announce the sale of goods.

It was around 1870 when manufacturers took advantage of the colorful lithograph cards as an inexpensive means of advertising their products and literally flooded the country with them. These advertising cards were sometimes handed out or enclosed in purchases.

Collecting these trade cards today has proven to be very popular with people interested in antiques. Many of these cards can be found among old postcards in antique shops. There are many categories to choose from such as the ones showing groceries, soaps, patent medicines and even under clothing. Still, many collect the ones designed by famous artists or early wood block prints.

Fans also proved to be a useful form of advertising. They have been used to advertise ladies apparel, dances, exhibitions, the Liberty Bell, and Mt. Vesuvius.

Pocono Twp. enacts tax on income

TANNERSVILLE — Pocono Township Supervisors enacted Ordinance Six, establishing a one-per cent earned income tax, Tuesday night at a regular meeting in the new township building.

Supervisors also approved an agreement with Berkheimer Associates of Bangor as the collecting agency for the tax.

Supervisors accepted the Barton Glen Mobile Home road as a township road.

Supervisors discussed budget items and will consider completing the budget at the next meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 19.

Local people take tour of hospital

WHITE HAVEN — Russell Irwin of East Stroudsburg, and Mrs. James Groner, Stroudsburg, were among members of the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Committee of Pennsylvania Jaycees to tour White Haven State School and Hospital.

Irwin is a national director in the Jaycees and Mrs. Groner is regional representative of Pennsylvania American Red Cross assigned to the 13 counties surrounding the hospital at White Haven.

Purpose of the tour was to compare the facilities with Pennhurst State School and Hospital in Chester County, where deplorable conditions were discovered and exposed.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

I've fouled up more programs with pictures than anybody I know. Here was the Garden Club program where just as I was transferring a handful of slides, carefully arranged in sequence and proper position, to the projector, I squirted them out all over the floor.

That's the time everybody got stiff necks craning to see pictures sideways and upside down. Then there was the time when the projector bulb burned out, and another time when we didn't have a screen and showed the pictures on a wavy tablecloth.

So I could feel for Barry Tretheway and Henry McMahon when their projector would only run backwards, showing water running up hill and cars backing wildly up the street. However, it was Peirce Harley to the rescue finally. The worst part was that Barry had the questions before the film which was supposed to prompt them.

One fascinating project about which I wish we'd talked and seen more was how our own Main Street would look, without any major structural changes, with a little imagination and paint, and a lot less swinging, projecting, and oversized signs.

I wonder if Jack and Harry Mullins have seen how the E.A. Bell building would look painted a sort of battleship grey with its arches painted white. Very handsome, as a matter of fact.

As far as the signs go, those of us who live here don't even see them anymore since we know where we're going for what. Their main advantage seems to be in attracting the tourist trade, and I wonder how much of that they do. Maybe they'd attract a lot more by some attractive outside plantings.

It's hard to strike a balance between aesthetics and utility, between controlled planning and individual initiative. One man's idea of beauty is another man's idea of "Ech" and who's to judge which one is right?

Club sponsors delegate to BPW Youth Conference

STROUDSBURG — The Stroudsburg Business and Professional Woman's Club participated in the third statewide BPW Youth Conference held at the Holiday Inn Town, Harrisburg.

Their representative was Margaret Garwood of Stroudsburg, a member of the senior class of Pocono Central Catholic High School. Serving as advisor from the area was Frances Everitt.

The 200 young men and women from across the state joined adult panelists in discussing "What Does Leadership Entail" and "What Does Youth Expect from an Employer and What an Employer Expects from Youth."

The banquet speaker, Mrs. Margaret E. Hasebroock, vice president of organizational relations, Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, developed the theme, "Responsibilities of Freedom."

Other featured speakers included John T. Hart, executive vice president, Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce on "Incorporating Leadership in Our Free Enterprise System"; Miss Betty Hollis, BPW state president, on "Incorporating Leadership in Community Action"; and Robert Zannelli, personnel manager, Corning Glass Works; Trooper Eugene Krebs, Pennsylvania State Police, on the dangers of the use of narcotics; and the Hon. Albert Straub, Mayor of Harrisburg.

Workshops on the topics were conducted by student leaders. The two-day conference also included tours of the capitol and museum, a luncheon, banquet and dance.

Miss Knecht engaged to C. D. Olsen

SAYLORSBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Knecht of Saylorsburg announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Louise Knecht, to Charles D. Olsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vasko of Tannersville.

Miss Knecht is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School and is employed by Valerie Fashions Inc., Wind Gap.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Pocono Mountain High School and is employed by R. C. Cramer, East Stroudsburg.

Y Mothers buy equipment for YMCA use

STROUDSBURG — The YMCA Mothers Club heard reports of the Halloween party they sponsored at the YMCA, at their meeting Monday night. More than 100 children were entertained.

The Mothers Club has purchased a tennis table from the Rock and Roll sale and also a hair dryer for use in the girl's locker room.

The club will serve a luncheon to the county Ministerium on Nov. 12.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party to be held Monday, Dec. 2 at 6 p.m. with members bringing a covered dish and a gift for exchange.

The program featured a demonstration on making Christmas gifts by Mrs. Ralph Brodsky who used many household items often overlooked for making the gifts.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John DeVivo and Mrs. Alice Baujan.

Circle party

EAST STROUDSBURG — A Christmas party will follow the meeting of Circles 4 and 5 of the East Stroudsburg Methodist WSCS to be held Nov. 12 at the home of Jennie Clifton, 78 Lenox Ave., East Stroudsburg. Dollar gifts will be exchanged.

Architecture part of total picture

STROUDSBURG — Architecture as part of the total environment was the approach used by Barry Tretheway, local architect, at the meeting of the Stroudsburg branch of the American Assn. of University Women at the Stroud Community House this week.

"No Time for Ugliness," a film prepared by the American Institute of Architects, was supplemented by slides of model communities to set the tone for the discussion.

The film contrasted garish "urban sprawl" approaches to cities with garden parkway entrances; ancient tenements with imaginative approaches to low cost housing; waterways littered with rotting piers and industrial buildings with those adapted for parks and streamside dining; cracker box developments with ones using design to achieve privacy; shopping plazas with sprawling shopping centers.

The slides showed totally planned communities such as Reston with renovated communities in Michigan and restorations such as in Georgetown; even slides showing what paint and imagination could do with a jumbled Main Street.

Warning that while the things inside the new recreation area would be controlled, those on its perimeter would not, Tretheway stressed the importance of an over all planning for the future.

In the discussion which followed, it was pointed out that the most obvious difference between the attractive and the ugly settings was the domination or absence of signs.

One suggestion offered to the conflict between aesthetics and the necessity of providing information to the traveling public was for directories of the area placed in rest areas.

"Take advantage of natural resources," Tretheway said in urging harmony between the landscape and the use to which it is to be put.

He was assisted in showing the pictures by Henry McMahon with an assist from Peirce Harley of the YMCA. They were introduced by Mrs. Harold James, Mrs. James announced that at the December meeting, Dr. Madeline Powers would show "The Many Faces of Christ" in art through the ages.

Dr. Mary Powers presided at the brief business meeting.

Mrs. Lloyd Geer and Miss Ruth Henry were chairmen of the refreshment committee and served from a table decorated with fall flowers. Members of the committee were Dr. Ann Snyder, Mrs. Ralph Smith, Dr. Marjorie Smith, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. James Sorrentino, Mrs. Arthur Slee, Mrs. H. L. Slaboski, Miss Julia Seig and Mrs. Lewis G. Harrison.

Cool it like boy friend

By JEAN ADAMS

LONG GONE: (Q.) I went away to school for a year. When I got home I called my boy friend to let him know I was back.

He used to end his calls with "I love you." This time he just gave me a cool good-bye. Does this mean he's losing interest in me?

C. of Fortuna, Calif.

(A.) If you've been gone and out of touch for a year, his loss of interest is natural. At your age, keeping love alive calls for constant communication.

He's cooled it. So should you. DINNER FOR TWO: (Q.) My parents say I can have my boy friend over for dinner. They'll visit friends next door to give us privacy, but still be close enough to chaperone.

good cook and the domestic type. Should I go fancy, casual, or what?

M. in Tulsa, Okla.

(A.) Be yourself. If you're casual, make the food and the atmosphere and the whole evening that way. If you incline to the elegant, serve up candlelight and hostess pajamas as well as dinner.

Cook something you've tried before, something you know will come out right and that you can serve without mishap. Most men like meat and potatoes. Most men also enjoy specialties such as good spaghetti. Serve a simple salad with whatever main dish you choose. For dessert a good sundae beats a dried-out cake-mix cake. Or maybe you have some supper dessert you can create from scratch. If so, prepare it beforehand.

Deer causes car accident

MOUNT POCONO — A 58-year-old East Stroudsburg man was slightly injured Tuesday at 5:10 a.m. in a two-car accident on Rt. 191 about seven miles southeast of Mount Pocono.

Injured was Jessie Lee of 279 S. Courtland Street. He told police that he would consult his family physician.

According to police, Lee and Wendell Williams, 59, of Tunkhannock R. D., were traveling south on Rt. 191 and were traveling at a low rate of speed due to deer being on the highway and on the berm.

One of the deer jumped in front of the Lee vehicle. He applied his brakes and Williams, who was following Lee, could not stop in time to avoid a crash.

The Williams' vehicle struck the rear of Lee's vehicle and knocked it into a utility pole.

Total damage is estimated by police at $1,000.

Medical group aims to increase physicians in state

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvania educates roughly one-seventh of all the physicians who now earn degrees in the United States—but does it need more medical schools?

There are seven in the state—five in Philadelphia, one in Pittsburgh and one in Hershey; plus an osteopathic college in Philadelphia. In the U.S. there are now 99 medical schools.

"We educate in Pennsylvania more physicians than stay in Pennsylvania to practice," said Dr. John H. Harris, Sr., of Harrisburg, past president of the Pennsylvania Medical Society.

The number now is around 800 graduates a year and will go up to near 900 when Hershey Medical School is in full operation by 1972. Of these, 100 are in osteopathy.

Statistics disclose that 90 per cent of the M.D. graduates concentrate on a specialty, while three-fourths of the osteopaths (O.D.) go into general practice.

Dr. Lynn F. Brumm of Sharon, president of the Pennsylvania Osteopathic Association, said that the emphasis on general practice "is one of our basic differences with medical doctors."

Harris, however, said patients today prefer to take most of their medical problems direct to specialists which is why "there is less and less need for general practitioners."

Despite the steady influx of new doctors, there is a shortage of physicians, especially in rural areas and in less populated regions.

"The nation needs more physicians but Pennsylvania is better off than most states," Harris told The AP. "We need more hospitals, too, despite the fact that the total number of hospital beds available in the state right now undoubtedly is adequate to meet Pennsylvania's needs."

A PMS spokesman said the Society, trying to break up the disproportionate geographical distribution of physicians, "has been putting up to $100,000 a year in scholarships and loans to increase the number of physicians."

There are a total of 15,380 private medical doctors, including specialists, in Pennsylvania, today, and about 1,500 osteopaths.

As for hospitals, osteopaths operate 19, medical doctors 420, including 92 in the Philadelphia area.

Jack Engelmeier, executive director of Homestead Hospital in Allegheny County, said "Western Pennsylvania needs another medical school. The University of Pittsburgh is the chief source of physicians for 4.2 million individuals."

Dr. Ernest P. Molchany, past president of the Butler County Medical Society, said "there should be more emphasis on recruitment of general practitioners, but more critical than this is the acute shortage of faculty in our state medical schools."

Opening lead—five of clubs.

The most interesting hands to play are those where the outcome is uncertain and the tide of battle swings back and forth between the opposing sides.

For example, consider this deal where South starts without knowing how he will eventually fare. He does not see the adverse cards and hence cannot accurately gauge the final outcome.

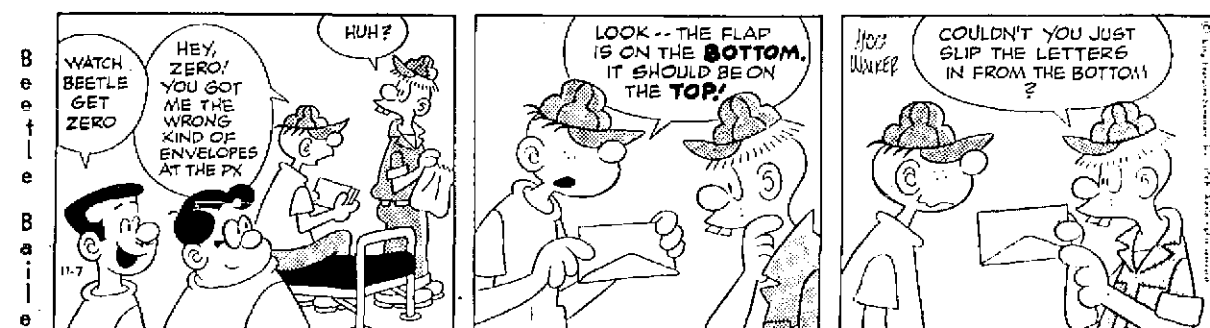

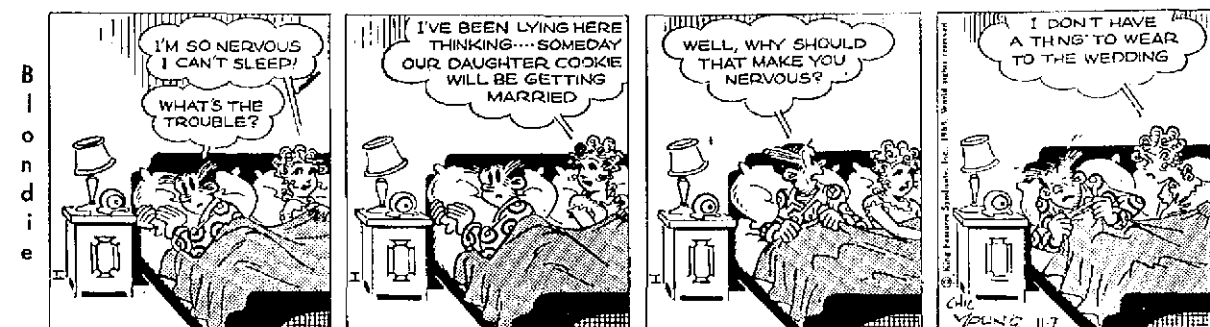

It is much easier for the reader, who sees all 52 cards, to predict the result, assuming best play by both sides. Of course, there are times when even the reader has trouble predicting what will transpire, and perhaps this is one of those cases. Here is how the play should go in three notrump. East wins the club lead with the ace, continues with the queen, and then plays the ten. West has to discard when South wins the third club with the jack, and unless he discards the king of diamonds declarer makes the contract.

Let's say West discards a low heart instead, which would seem to be the more natural thing to do. South then makes the hand by leading a diamond and playing low from dummy when West produces the king; in fact, he makes the rest of the tricks, or four notrump.

But the discard of the king of diamonds by West puts an entirely different complexion on the matter. South cannot make nine tricks without bringing home the diamonds, and if he attempts to do this, he finishes down two.

There is no good reason for West to hang on to the king of diamonds. The king is of no value to him if South has the queen, and it is an even greater liability if East has the missing lady.

Ann Landers

Smoker went too far

Dear Ann Landers: Listen to this and tell me if I am crazy. A friend I had not seen in years came to visit me. I don't smoke but I've been around a good many smokers and it never bothered me much. This woman was something you have to see to believe. She was never without a cigarette between her lips.

When she talked, the smoke curled up and down and sideways, out of her mouth and out of her nostrils. She dropped ashes on her clothes, on the rug, on the tablecloth — wherever she went there was a trail of cigarette butts. During every meal she puffed away while she ate — between bites. I never saw anything like it.

At night I couldn't sleep because she was smoking in bed and I was scared to death she'd burn the house down. And then there was that incessant coughing and hacking. It made a nervous wreck of me. She'd turn blue and light another cigarette.

I have always been a fairly tolerant person but this woman and her cigarettes got to me. When she hinted that she'd like to come back to visit next year, I told her I couldn't stand another visit because of her smoking. She said I was the craziest, most ungracious person she'd ever met. What do you think?

—SMOKED OUT

Dear Out: I don't think you are crazy or ungracious. I think you were pushed beyond the point of endurance and you let her know it.

I feel sorry for your friend, however. She is addicted to tobacco as surely as a junkie is hooked on dope, and she could come to a very sad end.

Dear Ann: This is for the "comfortable but not rich" widow with the sick Cadillac. She was looking for a husband who knew how to keep up a car because she was "tired of the repair bills." Doesn't this woman know widows are A-1 targets for crooks? Apparently not, so I'd like to give her a few tips.

(1) Don't let a service station attendant do any major repair work on your car. They are not set up for it and 95 per cent of the gas pumpers are not qualified to repair anything.

(2) If something goes wrong, take your car to three or four places for a check. Let the mechanics explain the problem and ask how much it would cost to put the car in A-1 shape. When you find two mechanics who agree, pick one and stick with him.

(3) When a gas station attendant starts to tell you your car is "in terrible condition," pull out a notebook, write down what he says, and tell him you'll take it up with your mechanic. He won't pester you again.

(4) If you get stuck in the wilderness, have the car towed to the nearest Cadillac agency. If the car is new and you've got a lemon, insist that the man you bought it from give you satisfaction or write to Detroit.

—WISED UP WIDOW

Dear Wised: I don't know who will love me the most — the gas station attendants or Detroit. At any rate, your letter makes sense and I thank you for writing.

Suits filed against Record

STROUDSBURG — Floyd Butz, 611 Chestnut St., East Stroudsburg, Wednesday filed a suit in the Monroe County Court against Pocono Record Inc., 511 Lenox St., Stroudsburg.

In the suit Butz is claiming damages in an amount in excess of $10,000 for what the complaint says is a libelous statement published about Butz.

Butz is a former register and recorder.

According to the complaint, "On or about January 3, 1968, the Record falsely and maliciously published of an concerning the Plaintiff" the following words:

"On the political scene, Floyd Butz paid the county $7,028.20 so he could accept a job from the commissioners and to be eligible to collect a pension from the county if and when he decided to retire. He retired."

Butz claims that the statement and charges published in the Record so far as they reflect upon his character and reputation are wholly false.

He further claims that the publication is a libel and connotes that he is guilty of fraud, conspiracy, bribery and other corrupt actions involving moral turpitude.

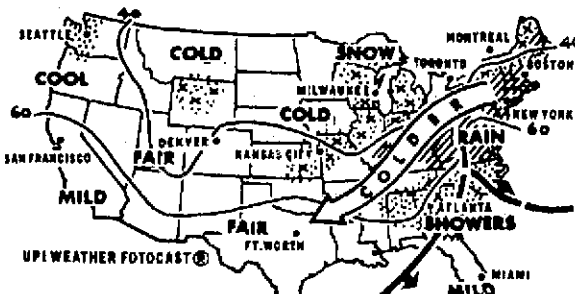

Butz further claims that as a result of the Record's action, he has been greatly injured in his good name and has suffered in his reputation and in his good name and has suffered in his feelings to his great financial loss and damage.

Retarded Children's chapter outlines educational program

STROUDSBURG — In joining the National Association for Retarded Children, the Monroe County Chapter revealed some basic facts and thoughts on mental retardation in its efforts to make the public aware of the scope and influence of retardation, its treatment and prevention.

Professionally defined, mental retardation is sub-average general intellectual functioning which originates during the development period, associated with impairment in adaptive behavior. Generally, there are mild, moderate, severe and profound levels of retardation.

At present there are an estimated six million mentally retarded individuals in the country. Each year, some 150,000 babies in the nation are born destined to be mentally retarded.

Some 300,000 are severely or profoundly retarded and will need lifetime care and supervision; 500,000 are moderately retarded, capable of self-maintenance in unskilled or semi-skilled occupations; the majority that remains are mildly retarded, capable of social and vocational adequacy.

State-chartered financial companies total 13 in county

(Record Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG — Monroe County has a total of 13 state-chartered financial institutions within its boundaries, records of the State Department of Banking revealed Wednesday.

One state bank chartered by the department is located within the county, plus three savings and loan associations, one private sales finance company, three licensed small loan facilities, and five consumer discount facilities.

No pawnbrokers are licensed within the county nor are any state credit unions, according to department records.

Statewide, as a point of comparison, there are 184 state banks in operation, 574 state savings and loan associations, 262 private sales finance companies, 137 state credit unions, 958 small facilities, 1,158 consumer discount facilities and 59 state-licensed pawnbrokers.

As for the one state banking institution in the county (does not include number of separately located branches), total assets of this facility are listed by the department as $31,495,000, with $671,000 in capital stock and capital securities accounts. Surplus accounts for the one state facility in the county total $1,475,000, while time deposits are placed at $13,674,000 and demand deposits held by the state banking facility, $14,309,000.

As for state savings and loan associations, three are listed for Monroe County with assets during the past year reported as $15,828,729, with total earnings distributed for the year standing at $557,869,000. Members of the associations numbered 6,179.

Smooth-running GOP machine forges another victory

By GIL MURRAY
Record News Editor

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Republican Party has added another feather to its cap by giving President-elect Richard M. Nixon a 2,234-vote victory in the county, while the GOP candidate was losing Pennsylvania.

Nixon, running strong in every section of the county, piled up 9,004 votes to Hubert H. Humphrey's 6,774.

The Republicans also carried all the statewide candidates to victory in the county even though Democrats gained victories for judge of the Superior Court, Auditor General and State Treasurer.

In the contest for United States senator, the county gave victorious Richard Schweiker 9,238, a leading total, to incumbent Democrat Joseph S. Clark's 6,774.

Schweiker's victory margin was the largest in the county — 2,261 votes.

The Republicans should add to these margins when the 720 absentee votes are counted Nov. 15.

Overall, the Republicans failed to carry only two weak candidates and were also beaten by a popular Mount Pocono attorney, who in his first bid for elective office, proved to be the most effective Democratic vote-getter on the ballot.

U. S. Rep. Fred B. Rooney had no trouble turning back the challenge of Republican Paul Henderson, 8,165 to 7,884, in their contest in the 15th district.

Henderson proved to be a weak candidate in the entire district which he lost by more than 35,000 votes.

Russell Becker, who was virtually unknown in the county, highlighted the effectiveness of the Republican solidarity.

Becker, who lives in Moore Twp., was beaten by incumbent State Rep. Russell Kowalshyn by only 34 votes, a margin which could be reversed by the absentee ballots.

On the credit side of the ledger for the Democrats, who are in the midst of rebuilding a party which was wracked by internal fighting only a year ago, was their ability to hold the margin down.

Attractive candidate

Peter J. O'Brien proved to be a particularly attractive candidate in his battle in the 139th District with incumbent State Rep. J. Russell Eshback, Bushkill.

Bucking the Republican trend in the county, O'Brien was able to defeat Eshback by 325 votes.

Of course, the margin fell far short of overcoming Eshback's overwhelming victory in Pike and Wayne counties.

In Monroe County, George C. Wallace who received more publicity than any other third party candidate in history, fell far short of predictions.

Wallace, who received only six per cent of the 17,403 votes cast, picked up most of his local support in outlying townships.

For instance, in the five townships in the West End of the county, 23 per cent of the Wallace vote was cast, while only 14 per cent of the total vote came from those townships.

Wallace received 10 per cent of the vote in Chestnut Hill, Hamilton, Polk, Ross and Eldred townships.

By contrast, 24 per cent of the total vote was cast in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, while only 21 per cent of the Wallace vote was recorded in the county's two largest boroughs.

The fiery, ex-Alabama governor received only five per cent of the vote in the two boroughs.

Nixon's victory was the fifth time a Republican presidential candidate carried the county since 1940, as opposed to only three victories for the Democratic candidate.

Margin less

Nixon's victory margin Tuesday was far less than the one he piled up in beating John F. Kennedy in 1960. That year, Nixon beat Kennedy by 4,987 votes — the widest margin in the history of the county.

In 1964, the county gave a

4,341-vote victory to President Lyndon B. Johnson in his campaign against Barry Goldwater.

Tuesday, 85.1 per cent of the county's 21,163 registered voters went to the polls. The percentage neared the record total vote in the county of 87.1 per cent in 1960.

What Tuesday's results appear to indicate is that the Republicans could have easily lost the county without a cohesive effort on the part of all party officials.

The Democrats, under the leadership of chairman Stuart F. Pipher, staged a strong comeback after suffering disastrous defeats in the last three years.

Pipher, who was unpopular when serving as a county commissioner, has laid it on the line to Democrats. Victory is possible only if the entire party pulls together, he has told them.

While Tuesday's presidential election came too soon after Pipher initiated his effort for harmony, it appears that the Democrats are about to end their intra-party bickering and get down to winning elections.

Still to be proved is the big question of whether Pipher has the organizational ability to weld all the dissident Democrats into a force capable of winning.

The same situation faced the Republicans three years ago when Dr. Evan C. Reese took over as chairman. Reese's effectiveness has been proved in every election since then.

Rank and file Democrats, who outnumber Republicans in the county, still seem to be selecting individual candidates to support.

Professors' consensus: Nixon ok

EAST STROUDSBURG — Three East Stroudsburg State College faculty members agreed that President-elect Richard Nixon made a sincere victory speech Wednesday but an ESSC graduate student held a different opinion during a discussion on election results in the ESSC Social Science Building Wednesday.

Conrad H. Idukas, a graduate assistant in the political science department, liked Nixon's speech but felt circumstances dictated its tone and meaning.

He viewed Nixon's election with pessimism and claimed that the country's youth would be disillusioned.

"I don't look forward to the next four years," Idukas said.

Science professor William D. McFadden termed the victory speech "magnanimous." He thought Nixon's plea for closing the generation gap and his advice to youth who don't agree with his policies to continue to work in the opposition party was sincere and meaningful.

"Nixon's sincerity was always there," said social science professor David B. Kresge. "In 1960 he was one of the few Republicans who came out strong for a Civil Rights Plank."

Dr. Kurt Wimer, head of the Social Science Dept., admitted that Nixon was a sincere liberal but said Nixon will be facing a Democratic majority in both the Senate and House. He said this poses a severe strain on executive-legislative relations, and termed the coming year "full of danger."

Dr. Wimer cited the extremely unique aspect of a newly elected President facing in his first term of office a House and Senate whose majority members are from the opposite political party.

The winning President usually brings in his party's Congressmen and Senators. Dr. Wimer said explaining that this time voters went against the prevailing pattern thus establishing a wide circle of free independent voters.

McFadden, turning to Pennsylvania, cited Monroe County's high percentage of ticket splitting: a heavy majority for Nixon but Rooney, O'Brien and Kowalshyn coming through on the Democratic side.

"Pennsylvania's going from a moderate to a liberal state," McFadden said. "The urban-suburban dichotomy has been proven false."

Idukas agreed that Pennsylvania was becoming sophisticated in its voting habits.

Dr. Wimer who maintains that Lyndon B. Johnson will go down in the history books as a "great President" believed that Nixon will detach himself from his "hawk" image on Vietnam.

"There's one thing that worries me about Nixon," McFadden said. "This business of his being an expert technocrat. But it could be that he's just not conveying his human side." Kresge believed that Nixon would make a better administrator than LBJ. He said that although Nixon has ridiculed the Peace Corps for its top heavy bureaucracy he felt that the new President-elect wouldn't do away with the Peace Corps but rather he'd skim off some of the bureaucracy.

Idukas viewed Nixon's selection of Spiro Agnew as his Vice-president with suspicion and foreboding.

"Agnew couldn't even deliver Maryland for Nixon as Muskie did for Humphrey with Maine," Idukas said. "I hope Nixon enjoys the best of health for the next four years," he added.

Council refuses to enter dispute

S-burg won't oppose planner

STROUDSBURG — During its regular monthly meeting Wednesday night, Stroudsburg Borough Council members took a firm stand on the controversy surrounding the appointment of an executive director by the Monroe County Planning Commission.

Council members decided to avoid getting involved in what seems to be a county-wide hassle and would not take action on a letter received from Barry J. Tretheway asking them to take a stand.

The letter from Tretheway, representing the Stroudsburg Citizens Advisory Committee, recommended that the Borough initiate action for the purpose of suggesting to the county commissioners that a certified planner be appointed to the staff of the county planning commission.

Comments heard from the table ranged from "We shouldn't tell them (the commissioners) how to run their business" to "We have enough problems without worrying about the county's planning problems."

In other council action a bid for the purchase of one police car was accepted from Stroud Ford, Inc., in the amount of $1,180 for a 1969 model Ford.

A second bid was received from Gray Chevrolet in the amount of $1,194.

Council transferred $7,422 to the Phoenix Firemen's Relief Assn. which represented the borough's allocation of the net amount received from the premiums tax paid by foreign fire insurance companies.

Mrs. Alice Patterson, representing the Better Housing Council, asked that council look into the matter of the Benjamin Adams property, 105 Third St.

Mrs. Patterson said that the property had been gutted by fire in Nov. 1967, and the property has still not been cleaned up. She said it is becoming a health hazard to all the neighbors.

She said that the fire-gutted property gives off a terrible stench during rainy weather and that rats are breeding in the ruins. She also said that the front yard of the house is littered with refuse and unsightly trash.

Mrs. Patterson told council that she had attempted to speak to Adams about cleaning up the property and had volunteered her services to help dispose of the refuse in the front yard, but that Adams had refused to speak about the matter.

She stated that neighbors had signed a petition asking that something be done about the property and that the petition had been sent to Stroudsburg Fire Chief William Schroeder, but that nothing had been done.

She said that Borough Manager Harold Snyder had been called and informed about the problem and that nothing had been done as yet.

She further told council that a letter had been sent to the Claims Settlement Division, Department of Public Welfare asking for advice. The answer from the state informed Mrs. Patterson that the borough was responsible for initiating action.

Mayor Joseph H. Small told council that he had recently seen the property in question and that Mrs. Patterson was correct in her charges about the problem.

Small then told Mrs. Patterson that he would personally do something about the problem.

Robert Pinder, Stroudsburg Planning Commission, told council that the Stroudsburg Businessmen's Association had indicated that they would like to see something done about the traffic problem in the downtown area.

Michael Cabot, consultant to the planners, told the council that federal officials had inspected the Stoffer Street urban renewal area and they indicated that it would be eligible area for federal funds.

Study won't include merger possibilities

STROUDSBURG — Stroudsburg Borough Council members Wednesday night were given an opportunity to hear about a proposed study by the Pennsylvania Economy League concerning governmental capabilities in the Stroudsburg area.

Andrew Shaw Jr., and Ray Carmon, representatives of the league, Wilkes-Barre, informed council members that the study had nothing to do with a much-talked about merger of the municipalities in the Stroudsburg area.

The purpose of the study according to Carmon is simply to examine governmental capabilities of the Stroudsburg area insofar as solving future problems of growth from the influx of people and industry.

Shaw explained, "We really don't know what the governments of the municipalities in question can do. That is what the study is all about."

Carmon commented that the League's study will only attempt to "identify what services are or are not being offered by the governments, the costs of the services and the study will make recommendations concerning the services being made available to the citizens."

He added that it is not the purpose of the study or the league to make a single recommendation as to whether or not the communities should merge.

Shaw explained that the league was making the study for the local governmental officials and that it would be up to the officials to make a decision on the merits of the recommendations which will be put forth.

Council was informed that the study would be completed by the League in either March or April of next year.

Mayor Joseph H. Small once again expressed his desire that the final decision on whether a merger will take place will be left to the citizens who can express their opinion through voting on the measure.

Small said that he personally would not condone the study if the people were not going to be able to have the final decision.

He also said that he hoped the facts and figures would be presented to the voters and that they be kept abreast of the progress made in the study with the aid of the news media.

Albert to lead township group

BRODHEADSVILLE — Stroud Township Supervisor Harold Albert was re-elected president of the Monroe County Township Officials Assn. during the 62nd annual convention Wednesday night in the West End Fire House.

All other township association officers were re-elected. They are: Sterling Schoonover, first vice president; George Hallet, second vice president; Bessie Altemose, secretary; Stanley C. Newman, treasurer; Albert and Newman, convention delegates and Howard Buzzard and Schoonover alternate delegates.

H.A. "Cappy" Thomson, secretary emeritus of the State Association of Township Supervisors told the gathering that legislation has been drawn to transfer 10,000 miles of secondary state roads to townships.

Thomson said he favors the transfer, but only if the state allocates funds to the townships for repairs and maintenance of the roads. The allocation, he said, should be at least equal to the amount now spent on the roads by the State Highway Department.

Transfers of the roads, he explained, was suggested in a $250,000 study. The study recommended transfer of a total 15,000 miles of roads from the state's 42,000 mile road system.

He also told township officials that the Public Utilities and Highway Department authorized a study all the state's bridges.

He added that there is an administration backed proposal in Congress which would increase the size and load of trucks on the nation's highways. He said the increase would be disastrous to the bridges in the state.

State Sen. Jeanette Reibman also spoke to the group of about 200 persons as did State Representatives J. Russell Eshback and Russell Kowalshyn.

secretary of the state association, was the featured speaker.

Greider outlined the numerous pieces of legislation which have been signed into law that affect townships.

J.D. Lambert, director for the Bureau of Municipal Services, told the gathering that the 1969 liquid fuel allocations will be slightly more than those of 1968.

William R. Large, district director of municipal services, said about 25 miles of road were built in the district at a cost of $275,000.

In other convention business, a total of 16 resolutions were brought before the conferees. Resolutions which were adopted, called for a separate state allocation for bridges; limit annexation to an entire township rather than parcels and remove inequity in the firemen's relief association fund.

S-burg planning new school

STROUDSBURG — Stroudsburg Area School board and the board's new planning committee met Wednesday with an architectural firm in the board's first step towards acquiring a middle school for its already overcrowded school system.

The committee and board members interviewed a representative of Buchart and Co. Associates, Lancaster, who gave a slide presentation on various school plans.

Between six and eight architectural firms will be interviewed in the coming months for an overall view on the size, cost and design of different school plans.

The new planning committee, board members and the administrative staff will visit several existing Middle Schools throughout the Northeastern United States.

The board will then award a contract to one of the architectural firms on a competitive bid basis.

Members of the new planning committee include Dr. Edmund Magann, chairman; T. Manning Outis; Donald Stone and Bernard Frantz.

Muzzle loading feature topic at meeting

TANNERSVILLE — Bob Hujtsa of the Blue Mountain Muzzle Loading Rifle Ass. will present an illustrated talk on deer hunting with the muzzle-loading rifle at the meeting of the Monroe County Federation of Sportsman's Clubs at 7:30 p.m. today.

The meeting will be held at Pocono Elementary Center, Tannersville.

The Blue Mountain Muzzle Loading Rifle Ass. is currently supporting an effort to gain a special season for muzzle loading rifles similar to the one presently offered to bow hunters.

The association that support for such a season is realistic if sportsmen would understand the nature of muzzle-loading rifles and the details of their request for a special season. Many states presently offer this special season.

TAD marks veteran's day little early

TOBYHANNA — Tobyhanna Army Depot observed Veterans Day Wednesday, a few days early. The official day, Nov. 11, is a legal holiday for Federal employees.

Luncheon in the cafeteria Wednesday, sponsored by the depot's Veterans Council, was attended by more than 500 military and civilian personnel.

Principal speaker was Maj. Marcelas Durham, director for administration at the post. He was introduced by Lt. Col. Rudolph S. Mozgo, deputy commander.

Major Durham earned the Bronze Star Medal during a recent tour of duty in Vietnam. He also holds the Army Commendation Medal.

In tracing the history of Veterans Day, Major Durham praised the role of veterans in molding the nation's destiny.

"The honoring of veterans on this day," he said, "properly focuses the nation's attention. In the final analysis, it is not solely massive armies, navies, air forces or industrial might that win wars; rather, victories are won by men, lonely individuals whose skill, courage, determination and sacrifices establish the measure of our nation's strength."

Warriors, California can clinch PSCC playoff berths

EAST STROUDSBURG — East Stroudsburg, running unchecked toward its first perfect season since 1965 when it posted a 10-0 record, hosts Bloomsburg this Saturday in a bid to clinch the Eastern Division football championship of the Pennsylvania State Colleges Athletic Conference.

The Warriors stormed past Delaware State last weekend, 47-7, in a non-conference game for their seventh straight victory.

California, leading the Western Division with a 4-0 mark, wasn't as lucky in its non-conference bash with undefeated Indiana State.

"They wanted a piece of us," declared California coach Bill Hepper after Indiana squashed his Vulcans 21-0, and sent three key players — quarterback Jeff Petrucchi, punter Don Roberts and middle guard and defensive captain Larry Randall — to the hospital for x-rays.

"We were the only team to beat them last year (27-0)," explained Hepper, who has been head coach since 1962. "The rest of our injuries were mental — and I think they were the worst ones. I'm glad we're not playing East Stroudsburg this week."

California is at Edinboro this week, and the Vulcans are heavily favored to wrap up the Western Division title — their first since 1958 when they won the conference championship as well.

It may be difficult without Petrucchi, who ranks fourth in the league in total offense (1,073 yards), without punter-linebacker Roberts who leads the league in punting with a 40.5 average, and without Randall, a 6-1, 230 pounder.

Petrucchi has a sore shoulder and was only able to lift the arm on Tuesday. "They were getting him frequently," pointed out Hepper. Petrucchi sat out most of the fourth period after completing 12 of 22 passes for 125 yards. Three were picked off.

Randall has a possible concussion and Roberts has a possible torn cartilage in his knee. He boomed punts of 62 and 40 yards before his injury Saturday.

California, (5-2 overall) lost regular linebacker Bob Jeanmone and 6-3, 210 pound offensive guard Bob Lipwin a week earlier in the key victory over Clarion.

Nevertheless, California is installing 3,000 additional blockers for the playoff game it hopes to host, Nov. 16.

WEST CHESTER DOMINATES STATISTICS

West Chester State, the defending conference football champion which will likely have to be content with a second place finish in the Eastern Division this year, this week took over first place in team offense and defense in the Pennsylvania Colleges Athletic Conference.

The Golden Rams are averaging phenomenal 484.4 yards in five conference games, and allowing only an average of 219.0 yards on defense.

In addition, fullback Bert Nye has taken over undisputed first place in scoring with nine touchdowns and 54 points, and maintained his lead in rushing with 724 yards.

East Stroudsburg's Billy Dukett maintained his front-running pace in total defense and passing despite the Warrior's non-conference outing with Delaware State, which they won, 47-7.

Dukett has 1153 yards total offense, but Clarion's Bob Erdeljac (1,080) and Mansfield's Stu Casterline (1,075) are moving up. Dukett's 87 pass completions are being challenged by Casterline with 75, Erdeljac with 73 and West Chester's Steve Dills with 71.

star who caught six passes in the 35-0 loss to Clarion Saturday, took over first place from East Stroudsburg's Ed Csencsits in pass receiving with 35 catches ahead of West Chester's Don Wilkinson with 34.

California's Don Roberts is far out front in punting with a 40.5 average.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK — West Chester's Bert Nye led all conference rushers last week with 184 yards against Mansfield. Jay Wagner, of Slippery Rock, was next best with 140. The top passers were Clarion's Bob Erdeljac with a 56.7 completion percentage, West Chester's Steve Dills with 249 yards and Bloomsburg's Tom Schneider with three TD losses. Top receiver was Jim Becker of Clarion who hauled in 10 for 168 yards and two TDs. Scoring honors went to Bloomsburg's Greg Berger with 18 points on three TD catches. Erdeljac took total offense honors ahead of Dills, 258 to 251, while Art Sell of Bloomsburg led all punters with a 40.7 average.

CANCELLATION — Cheyney cancelled its two remaining games with Millersville (Nov. 2) and West Chester (this Saturday) after injuries and illness reduced the squad to 14 players (including only four linemen). West Chester athletic director Bob Reese tried to line up replacement teams for Nov. 9 and Nov. 16 prior to the Rams' final game with Villanova, Nov. 23, but was unsuccessful as of this writing. West Chester wanted to play Clarion in a "Runner Bowl" Nov. 16, the same date as the championship playoff, but an agreement could not be reached.

Voice of Broadway

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK — Vincent Sardi Jr. barred three customers from his fine theatrical hangout — one for abusing Vincent's Negro aide . . . Old lady in front of Sardi's after a Merv Griffin taping stopped Henry Morgan and charmed him with: "I love you on TV — you're so mean!" . . . The smut-novel "Candy" movie version will be released "for Christmas"; don't they mean "against"? . . . When Merv Griffin's television chattercast switches to CBS he'll air 50 per cent more commercials than either Carson or Bishop . . . Lee Remick wants the world to know she wants nothing more than to be in the film Katie Hepburn directs. . . .

Rod Steiger's staggering down the Paul Newman-Joanne Woodward road; he'll not only direct wife, Claire Bloom, in a Paramount film but even ups Newman — he'll also script it.

"The Beautiful Phyllis Diller Show" has ugly ratings and is slated down the channels: Tony Bennett and-or Patti Page might next share the slot.

"Wild Wild West" CBS-TV star Robert Conrad now is a licensed fight manager. Makes his first appearance in the corner of his fighter Irish Frankie Crawford this weekend (vs. Dwight Hawkins) in Inglewood, Calif.

Composer (of the imminent "Promises, Promises") Burt Bacharach's wife Angie Dickinson's mother Mrs. Frederika Williams is a linotype operator for the Burbank (Cal.) Daily Review; Angie's parents once owned the Kulu, N. D. Messenger and she cut her cyeteeth on printing presses; therefore she'll be right at home on the Chrysler TV Theatre playing the wife of a weekly newspaper editor.

Robert Moore became a hot stage director with the swish-smash "Boys in the Band" comedy; now he's also staging David Merrick's "Promises, Promises"; Moore also directs countless television commercials . . . Merrick asked Moore now that he's a first rank stage director, why not drop the television commercials; to which Moore replied, "Sure, David, if you'll give up all your Wall Street holdings."

If the fella with a young gal named Jennifer at the Seafare of the Aegean looks like Cary Grant, it is . . . His daughter 'caws' . . . Some scary hate-literature (mostly anti-Semitic) has cluttered the Ocean Hill-Brownsville school-tangle but some black-humor is included — one group actually handed out propaganda demanding the area become a "separate African nation."

For five years married opera stars Evelyn Lear and Thomas Stewart have been trying to get booked into the same opera house at the same time; they finally made it — in February they'll be at The Met in "Wozzeck" and "Walkure". Bonwit-Teller President Mildred Custin gets the year's big-prize "Tobe Award" for distinguished retailing; distinguished indeed.

The new movie "Lion in Winter" is a brilliant, colorful wallop of royal vulgarity, a reflection of the primitive prerogatives in Merrie Englande back in the 12th Century, a gaudy free-swinging eruption of the sports of the day — sex, war, parricide, fratricide, infanticide, sodomy, adultery, infamy; you name it and "Lion in Winter" swings it.

It's a film version of the James Goldman play of several Broadway seasons back, starring Peter O'Toole as King Henry II and Katharine Hepburn as Eleanor of Aquitaine.

O'Toole is far more credible in this royal role than Robert Preston in the stage original; Preston exciting star of "Music Man" played King Henry precisely as he performed "Music Man" and in fact an interpolation of "76 Trombones" anywhere in the play might've seemed so irrelevant the way he pranced through the play.

Katharine Hepburn is very good as Eleanor but not nearly so superb as Rosemary Harris in the original; Miss Harris strikes us as the finest actress in the English language this side of a few elder virtuosaes but then they couldn't play Rosemary Harris roles whose range impress endlessly from ingenuite to aging queens such as herein . . . It has fine acting throughout lesser roles and boasts a gutsy grandeur that swishes and never buckles.

64,479 state scholarship awards worth $47.5 million

HARRISBURG — The Pennsylvania State Scholarship Program has awarded 64,479 scholarships valued at $47.5 million for the 1968-69 academic year.

Recipients may attend any approved trade, technical, business, or hospital school of nursing in Pennsylvania, as well as any approved college or university throughout the country. This year, 84.2 per cent of the awardees are attending Pennsylvania schools while 15.8 per cent are attending schools located outside of Pennsylvania.

Former State Senator Paul L. Wagner, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency, stated, "PHEAA gives scholarship grants based on the educational costs at the student's chosen school, while the amount of the award is determined by a standardized evaluation of the family's financial need."

"This year's awards range from $200 to $800 and average $670. Pennsylvania can be proud of the broad coverage and financial assistance our scholarship program offers young students today."

What's so great about it?

It's a Jane Parker Fruit Cake.

And we think it's great because of what goes into it.

You see, the best fruit cake has less cake...more fruits and nuts.

And Jane Parker Fruit Cake is

OVER 2/3 FRUITS AND NUTS...

with just enough delicious cake to hold the fruits and nuts in place.

It's literally bursting with imported and domestic cherries, pineapple from the Far East, sun-drenched raisins from California, citron from the Caribbean and pecans from the South.

What else can we tell you to convince you that

Jane Parker Fruit Cake is great?

Well, we can tell you about the price.

What would you expect to pay for a fruit cake like this? $8, $7, $6, $5?

How about $4.59 for our 5-lb. cake.

That's great too. Isn't it?

GIs father 2,000 Thai children

BANGKOK (AP) — American servicemen stationed in Thailand have fathered more than 2,000 illegitimate children in the past four years, the Pearl S. Buck Foundation estimates.

Frank J. Davis, executive director of the Philadelphia-based foundation, said last week his organization has accounted for about 750 Thai-American children and "we think this is only about one-third of the total number."

Davis, here for talks with the Thai government on care of the children, said their ages range between 1 and 4.

More than 95 per cent of them were born as the result of liaisons between Americans and Thai bar girls and hostesses who live with the troops during their tours under an arrangement known as the "hired wife system."

Some in dire need who are listed on the foundation's books, considered "emergency cases," will receive immediate financial help. Thailand has agreed to let the foundation set up projects to counsel the mothers, help support and educate the children and give advice to American families interested in adopting Thai-American children.

It includes representatives of the Thai Red Cross, the American Chamber of Commerce, their YWCA and YMCA, and business interests.

Registered last week with the government, the organization is known as the Friendship Childrens' Foundation and its aims in large part are those of the Pearl Buck Foundation.

Those interested in the welfare of the Amerasian babies, as the newspapers have called them, say mixed-blood children have a better chance of acceptance in Thailand than in most Asian countries.

"Thais are much more tolerant of these children than, say, Koreans are of their mixed-blood children," Davis said.

Thais generally are strongly opposed to relationships between American GIs and Thai women, however. This has been one of the strongest sources of friction between Thailand and the United States in negotiations for a status of forces agreement, which has still to be finished.

The 2,600-man Thai regiment known as the Queen's Cobra, which returned recently from a one-year tour of duty in Vietnam, left 200 Thai-Vietnamese babies behind.

Robert Rosand
NORFOLK, Va. — Fireman Apprentice Robert Rosand, United States Navy, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole I. Rosand of Stroudsburg R.D. 2, participated in the recovery of the Apollo 7 while serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare aircraft carrier USS Essex, a unit of Task Force One Forty.

The veteran Essex, oldest aircraft carrier in active service, was selected as the Atlantic Fleet primary recovery ship. The carrier was positioned along the Apollo launch vehicle ground track, approximately 400 miles East of Cape Kennedy, Fla., to recover the astronauts had there been a launch vehicle malfunction.

The Apollo program is the major current national space effort. The ultimate goal of the program is to land men on the moon for limited observation and exploration and to assure safe recovery upon return to earth.

With the completion of the Apollo 7 mission, Essex, assigned to the Naval Air Force, Atlantic Fleet, and homeported at Quonset Point, R.I., returned to normal fleet operation.

Larry J. Spinato
MOUNTAINHOME, Idaho — United States Air Force Sergeant Larry J. Spinato, son of Mrs. Lena Spinato of 402 Garibaldi Ave., Roseto, recently returned to Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho, following 18 days of temporary duty at Ramstein Air Base, Germany, where he participated in North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) exercises.

Designed to maintain the readiness of NATO-committed units which are based in the United States, the exercise involved RF-4C Phantom jet crews and support personnel assigned to the 22nd Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron.

The unit, formerly stationed at Toul-Rosieres Air Base, was assigned to Mountain Home in 1966 following the withdrawal of NATO troops from France.

Spinato serves as a supply inventory specialist with the 22nd.

He is a graduate of Ranger High School. The sergeant attended Churchman Business College, Easton, and Moravian College, Bethlehem.

His father, Joseph Spinato, lives at 591 Arlington St., Phillipsburg, N.J.

Raymond Bago
SCHWETZINGER, Germany — SP 4 Raymond Bago, husband of Judith Hillard Bago, of East Stroudsburg, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bago of Scott St., Stroudsburg, recently received special praise from Mayor Kurt Waibel of Schwetzingen.

Bago, spent many long hours at the construction site of the Sportsplatz.

Spencer Tallada
PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. — Marine Private Spencer Tallada Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Tallada Sr. of 32 S. Kistler St., East Stroudsburg, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here.

He will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance.

Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stresses, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

A thorough study of basic military subjects, hygiene, first aid and sanitation, and the customs, courtesies, history and mission of the Marine Corps serve to polish the new Marine's recruit education and prepare him to join the Marine combat forces.

Bernard F. Oppel
MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Bernard F. Oppel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph A. Oppel, of 92 Elk St., East Stroudsburg, has been promoted to captain in the United States Air Force.

Captain Oppel is an education and training staff officer at Maxwell AFB, Ala.

The captain, a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School, received his commission in 1961 upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps program at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, where he earned his B. A. degree.

He earned his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from Duke University, Durham, N.C.

Capt. Oppel's wife, Joyce, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Prange Sr. of 4022 Chapel Hill Road, Durham.

Harold J. Herdman
USS COCONINO COUNTY — Harold J. Herdman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Herdman of Stroudsburg, is presently serving on board the Tank Landing Ship USS Coconino County homeported in Guam, Marianas Islands.

At a special meritorious mast Herdman was promoted to Radioman Third Class.

He has served aboard since December 31, 1967.

USS Coconino County is presently undergoing a period of upkeep in Subic Bay, Republic of the Philippines, after a two month deployment providing logistic support for United States forces in South Vietnam.

USS Coconino County is a unit of Landing Ship Squadron Three and a member of the Amphibious Force, U.S. Pacific Fleet.

Council also adopted an ordinance regulating and licensing transient retail business.

A 1969 budget preparation session will be held at 7:30 p.m. November 19.

Tax liens placed against properties
STROUDSBURG — The Internal Revenue Service, United States Treasury Department, Tuesday placed tax liens against the property of two Stroudsburg couples.

A lien in the sum of $2,244.49 was placed against the property of Keith and Marilyn Dresser, 800 Monroe St., and a lien of $625.31 was placed against the property of Frank J. and Ruth Margretta, 34 N. Third St.

Pen Argyl — The reconstruction of Robinson Avenue will be evaluated by the Pen Argyl Borough Council's street committee and A. Victor Cesare, borough engineer.

Cesare, during the Council's regular meeting Monday night, presented a set of plans for the street's reconstruction.

In another matter relating to Robinson Avenue, Woodrow Wilson of the Sanitation Authority, reported that manholes on the street will have to be lowered two to three feet when the street is resurfaced.

Wilson also suggested on behalf of the Authority that the assessment ordinance be changed, because assessments are inadequate. He said fees were budgeted eight years ago and that the price of installing sewer connections has increased.

Your tax problems

"Your Tax Problems" is published as a public service and is prepared by the Philadelphia District Office of the Internal Revenue Service. Send queries to the Internal Revenue Service Public Information Officer, P.O. Box 12805, Philadelphia, Pa. 19108. For personal replies give name and address.

Q. I want to make a contribution to my political party. Can I deduct it on my tax return?

A. No, the law does not allow an individual to take a deduction for contributions to political parties.

Q. I made a profit when I sold my house. Is it true I won't have to pay tax on it if I use the money to buy another house?

A. On the sale of a personal residence, the tax on any gain from the sale is postponed providing you purchase and occupy another home within a year at a price equal to or greater than the "adjusted" sale price of your old home. This section of the law is discussed at length in IRS Document 5017, "Selling Your Home." Send a post card to your District Director for a free copy.

Q. On my job I get paid on a commission basis. Is it right for my boss to be taking Federal tax out of what I earn?

A. Yes. Earnings from commissions are subject to the same withholding requirements as wages and salaries.

Q. I'm buying U.S. savings bonds to help pay for my son's education. How should I go about this so I don't have to pay tax on the interest?

A. The interest earned on a savings bond should be reported by the owner of the bond. If you purchase the bonds in your child's name as owner then any tax liability will be his. Unless the interest earned on the bonds and his other income amounts to $800 or more, no return need be filed by him.

If you have your child elect to report the bond interest each year rather than wait until the year they are cashed in, then your child should file a return showing his bond interest the first year you start the plan. No further return will be required until the child has $600 or more income a year. Keep a copy of this first return to show that the interest has been reported on a yearly basis.

This transaction is a gift to your son. If you give more than $3,000 to him during the year, you may be liable for Federal gift tax return.

Q. When I filed my 1967 income tax return, I claimed sick pay exclusion but had to drop the first 30 days. The sick

Your Horoscope

By Francis Drake

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — If you have planned well and acquired all the know-how possible, you can make a lot of headway now. But equally big boners could result from carelessness or impulsive action.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — A good day for stabilizing, settling pending matters generally; also for making innovations which can insure further improvement in your status. Put your weight back of well considered plans and everything should fall in line.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Some renewed interest in past endeavors indicated, with greater possibility of success likely now. Day will please him who pleases.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Give careful consideration to all propositions. What terms offered? What to accept, reject and/or modify? You may have to introduce an idea of your own in order to achieve your objectives.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — This is a day in which to emphasize your distinctiveness and finesse; for doing things in an unusual way. Fine influences stimulate your outgoing personality, your gift of salesmanship; promise advancement.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Avoid present tendencies toward brusqueness, even sarcasm in conversation with others. This is not your normal manner, but personal dealings may require unusual patience now.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Gains indicated in endeavors where the personal touch counts. Concentrate on quality rather than quantity. Avoid haste in all activities.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Make sure you have checked all facts and factors before making agreements or taking on extra obligations. But do not quibble and lose out.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — You can accomplish much if you are willing to give things a better-than-ordinary try. Generous influences govern the stalwart, unflinching Sagittarian who projects from both the heart AND the head.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Be sensibly cautious in making investments (of time or money) — but not jittery. A stable attitude, coupled with thorough research and study, will provide the means to improved conditions.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Handling even the smallest assignments can bring fine returns — and the promise of even better opportunities to profit later. Be cognizant of your abilities and use your talents well.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Be circumspect in writings, careful in signing papers, handling the affairs of others. Accuracy is an essential now.

YOU BORN TODAY are noted for your enthusiasms, your cleverness and activity; have the potential for great accomplishment during an unusually interesting lifetime. You make a self-confident and powerful leader and as virile a follower. Scorpio is truly the "go-getter's" Sign. As the head of a business industry, your function brilliantly, and you are equally adept in the professional fields. Many of you take to surgery, nursing, teaching and writing. In practically anything you undertake, you can be successful but you MUST be careful not to overtax yourself or squander your tremendous energies. Birthdate of: Marie Curie, co-discoverer of radium; Billy Graham, evangelist; Joan Sutherland, opera star.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. H-7

TREASURE HUNTING WITH ELLEN

... for the exciting, unique gift - shop here every Thursday with Ellen ...

Phone 421-7349

Indispensable treasures for your wardrobe, right now and for all winter, are the marvelous blouses, shirts and jerseys at Frances Burrows. We noted two special treasures in a puckered voile shirt, shadow checked in camel, bittersweet and gray and a buttery soft nylon jersey classic in solid colors (tuck a colorful scarf at the neck for extra accent). Both these beauties have long sleeves and never go near an iron! There are English broadcloth, crepe, jersey and voile shirts in stripes, small prints, polka dots and paisley as well as solid colors, long sleeve and short, ruffled, button-down and plain. So check out the windows at 718 Main then march right in and stock up while there's such a marvelous selection. If you already have dozens, buy some for Christmas presents.

For instance, a smashing white, ribbed cotton side-slit, ring collared shirt (that would make a smashing pant top) would look divine coming out of its colorful wrapping and would make the recipient's face light up like the tree!

Spring treasures for your garden are available now at Plants and Design Center on Lenox Avenue in East Stroudsburg. Tulips, Daffodils, Hyacinths, Narcissus and Crocus are some of the Dutch fall bulbs available for spring blooms. Since these must be in before the ground freezes, we suggest that you hurry on over and consult with Ed Flory on your particular plan for cheering up the Poconos next spring. Actually, he has over 100 varieties of bulbs in stock, so it should be a very colorful spring. And in the meantime, how about a thought to our cheerful feathered friends? Ed has a great line of bird feeders (and feed of course) to keep the chirpers happy. Hanging feeders, pole feeders, suet cakes and holders and how about this item? Squirrel baffles and aluminum poles to baffle the squirrels, natch! Ed tells me there is a big rush on humming bird feeders just now, so if one of these little jewels is still around, why not feed him?

Is there a Wild West fan at your house? Well, saddle old Paint and ride out to The Beaver Valley Saddle Shop near Snyder'sville. This brand new shop specializes in English and Western wear. You can find something to fit the fussiest cowboy or girl on your ranch and something for Grandpa, too. Mom might like the hand tooled shoulder bag with roomy pockets and a fool proof fastener. Dad is sure to find handsome ranch style pants and a colorful Western shirt to live up his leisure hours. Lots of interesting special items and gift suggestions, too. How about getting a jump ahead of the Christmas rush and looking over this brand new shop while their stock is fresh and complete. Call 421-8537 or take Business Rte. 209 to Weaver's Store and turn left, follow signs. Shop is open from 6 to 10 p.m. every day, plus all day Saturday. Say "Howdy" to Alice and Bill Arnold and tell them Ellen sent you. If you should get lost in Beaver Valley country, call 421-8537 and they will send the posse to steer you over to the Saddle Shop.

And while you're out that way, ride over to Quasar country which is just a hoot and holler up the road toward Bessecker's. There's a sign on Business Rte. 209 which says Kenneth Starnes, Motorola, and that's Quasar country, partner! Kenney has Motorola TV, stereo consoles and portables (and only Motorola has Quasars). You can ask him what it means, as we did! Be sure to see the fine selection of table and portable Motorola radios and the many small electrical appliances, such as electric corn poppers, toasters, waffle irons, coffee makers, can openers, irons, electric brooms and a plethora of great gift ideas to help you get your Christmas shopping off to a running start. Kenney has a fabulous selection of diamonds also, pins, rings, watches, necklaces and bracelets. We'll tell you more about that in next week's column, but if you can't wait until then, phone Kenney at 492-4507 and tell him you are Treasure Hunting, or ride on out to Snyder'sville!

Is the electric guitar your bag? If so, rush right over to Mainline Music at 825 Main Street and tell Jay you're on a Treasure Hunt! A better than average guitarist (that's you) needs a Fender 12-String or Coronado. Or how about a Burns of London? Or a Rickenbacker? Or a Candy Apple Mosrite? Or maybe a Gretsch hollow-body bass? Does that grab you? All these are professional level, top grade carefully used instruments, going for half of the original price (or less). If however, electric guitar is not your bit, Jay has drums, ... and pianos, ... and organs, ... and amps, ... and cetera. Mainline's expanded piano and organ department will cover all your keyboard needs with new and used instruments such as Story and Clark, Esley, Wuritzer, Farisa and mighty Hammond. If fact, we would say that Jay has the swaggiest deals and the grooviest scene in town!

If you sew or have need of fabric by the yard, you'll find a treasure trove at The Yard Shop, 208 North Eighth Street. Florence Marsh knows her business, is a past master at problem solving. This tiny shop is chock a block with the most marvelous selection of fabrics and trims of all kinds. Special right now "plaids for ponchos" double-face, and plaids to match or contrast. Corduroy lovers, take note of a really smashing tapestry type print and a Scotch-guarded wide wale in a dyne blue. Be sure to see the imported double-knits, novelty and plain, in wools and nylon. Plushy for fabrics, bonded crepes, peau de soie, velvets, leatherettes (washable), dress lace ... your name it. Prices range from elegant looking, inexpensive rayons to the superb metallic brocades and sequin fabric by the yard. Vogue Pattern Service, custom orders, wedding parties ... bring your problem and let Florence help solve it!

The Heritage Shop specializes in Early American furniture, accessories and gifts. Anyone interested in Americana will be delighted with the treasures to be found here! Gifts and accessories include: Hobnail, Moon and Star, Daisy and Button glass in a variety of items and colors; hand hooked chair pads; coffee mills; salt and peppers in wood and glass; brass eagles, switch plate covers and door knockers; fireplace brooms in color with carved wood handles; electric, battery and 8-day wind clocks ... well, we could go on and on. But we also want to mention the beautiful solid cherry and hard maple Early American furniture styled by Taylor-Jamestown, as well as the solid cherry pieces made on the premises by Donald Timney. We especially like his cradle magazine (or record) rack. Stop in at 2400 North 5th Street and enjoy the relaxed atmosphere of this pleasant shop. Lots of parking space!
